FAVOR PROPOSALAnother Important Provision Is That no Employee Shall Be Deprived of Right to Quit Work.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Abolition of the Railroad Labor Board and the creation instead of a Federal Board of Mediation of five members is provided for in a bill introduced today by Chairman Watson of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, at the request of representatives of the railroads and railroad labor organizations.

Another important provision of the measure is that no employee shall be deprived of the right to quit work at will, and that no process of the courts shall be used to abridge that right. In the past injunctions have been resorted to in railroad walkouts.

Watson was a White House dinner guest last night. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and a delegation of heads of railroad unions, including D. B. Robertson, W. N. Dock and R. M. Jewell, with Donald R. Elchberg, attorney for the Labor organizations, were among those who discussed the legislation with the President yesterday.

Later, Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the Association of Rail Executives who conferred with the President Wednesday, joined with Elchberg in making public a statement declaring that railroad employees and employers had reached an agreement on legislation to create a board of mediation for railroad labor disputes, with provisions for arbitration in case mediation is unsuccessful, and also to authorize the President to institute investigation by a special board, in case of threatened disturbance.

Provisions of Agreement.—The President of the United States has in more than one message to Congress invited the rail carriers and their employees to enter in the effort to agree upon a method of adjusting labor disputes, which will not only be mutually satisfactory and protective of their just rights, but which will also properly safeguard the interests of the public, the statement explained.

An agreement has now been reached and a bill to carry it into effect will be presented to Congress in the immediate future. The provisions of the bill may be summarized as follows:

"1. That it shall be the duty of the parties to exert every reasonable effort to make and maintain agreements.

"2. Any and all disputes shall be first considered in conference between the parties directly interested.

"3. Adjustment boards shall be established by agreement, which shall be either between an individual carrier and its employees, or regional, or national. These adjustment boards will have jurisdiction over any dispute relating to grievances or to the interpretation or application of existing agreements, but will have no jurisdiction over changes in rates of pay, rules or working conditions.

"4. It is, however, provided that nothing in the act shall be construed to prohibit an individual carrier and its employees from settling upon settlement of disputes through such machinery of contract and adjustment as they may mutually establish.

Before going to the death chamber, Lawrence remained in his cell, playing a guitar and singing a Spanish love song.

FREE AFTER 20 YEARS UNDER MURDER CHARGE

Wanderer Returned to Tell Story of Accidental Killing of Friend.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 8.—Jim Sublett is free today after 20 years of wandering about the country with a murder charge hanging over his head. Sublett killed Joe Dillard, an old friend, with a bullet intended for another man during an altercation in 1905. He immediately left the country, and although a nation-wide search was instituted, he was never apprehended.

The agony suffered by Sublett over the killing of his friend and the terrors of constant flight led him to surrender several weeks ago. He was placed in jail at Galena, Mo. The story told by the prisoner was that he had been drinking and had killed Dillard. Relatives, including the wife and daughter of the slain man, visited Sublett in his cell, and all kindness was shown him. Public sympathy grew rapidly, and at last Judge Stewart and Prosecuting Attorney Hicks, meeting with relatives and other officers, agreed to waive the charges, and Sublett was released. He returned to his home at Piney, Ark.

TWO WOMEN FRIENDS OF SUSPECTS HELD

Associates of Men Arrested After Mateer Murder Deny Knowledge of Shooting.

By the Associated Press.
Two young women, friends of suspects taken in connection with the murder of Patrolman James H. Mateer, have been arrested by city detectives investigating the shooting of the policeman by two cigar store robbers at Grand and Olive Dec. 17.

The woman, Mrs. Dollie Harris, 18 years old, and Mrs. Myrtle Sapp, 17, both have made statements admitting that they had been associating with Jack La Garce and Tony Guarino, and told how they waited for their companions to rob Charles Reinhardt, operator at the Manchester Theatre, 3247 Manchester avenue, on Dec. 12. La Garce and Michael Canali are now held for the grand jury.

Both women deny, however, knowing anything of the Mateer shooting. Although police have questioned them on the theory that a woman may have acted as lookout there, after the murder, a chauffeur reported seeing a woman in a dark "aviator" coat at the corner during the robbery and flight, but subsequently an actress told police she was the woman the chauffeur had observed and explained she was waiting there for a friend.

The women said that La Garce and Guarino spent the night of Dec. 17 with them in their room at 716 North Sarah street. Mrs. Harris said both men left their room at 9 a. m. Dec. 17. La Garce making an appointment with her to meet him at Sarah and Olive streets at 6:30 p. m.

She and her companion were in the room all day, she leaving for a few minutes at 4:30 p. m. to buy some ribbon at a nearby store, according to her statement. She went to Sarah and Olive at 6:30, where La Garce met her at 6:40 p. m., apparently calm and composed, she related. She heard Guarino appear in the room about 9:30 p. m., she said.

Both women said they went with the men to the Manchester Theatre, Dec. 13, waited in an automobile, and later shared in $74 loot. They are held in the House of Detention for questioning by the grand jury.

Consuelo, Younger Daughter of William K., Becomes Bride of Earl E. T. Smith—Ceremony in Fifth Avenue Home.

By Leased Wire to the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Consuelo Vanderbilt, younger of the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, was married yesterday afternoon to Earl E. T. Smith, son of Mrs. C. Whitney Carpenter of this city and Newport, by her marriage to Sidney J. Smith.

The wedding was simple, in the sense there was no outdoor show, nor the entire ceremony being kept within the limits of the household. But that did not interfere with the richness of its setting nor of its private pageantry. It was a beautiful affair.

The decorations were tasteful, but profuse. They consisted mainly of similar, growing pink azaleas and calla lilies, so intermingled with palms and other flowers that the drawing room, in which the ceremony was performed, was transformed into a floral bower which recognized neither season nor latitude. The flowers ranged from the tropics to the Far North and covered every zone in which flowers grow.

Golden Crucifix on Altar.

The improvised altar, built in the light of the cathedral glass windows of the Fifth Avenue front of the home, was covered with green satin. On it stood a golden crucifix and on either side were tall candelsticks, in each of which a great candle burned.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas F. Murphy, rector of the Church of the Resurrection and formerly of St. Patrick's Cathedral. He is the priest who carried the father and mother of the bride, Mr. M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, in which parish the Vanderbilt residence is, was present.

Promptly at 4 o'clock the bridal procession formed at the entrance of the home, where Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, escorted by two altar boys, led. He was followed by the Paulist chorists singing the bridal chorus from the "Rose Maiden" cantata by Cowan. Behind the boys came the matron of honor, Mrs. Frederick C. Church, sister of the bride, walking alone and followed by the bride on the arm of her father.

As the bride reached the altar the bridegroom and his best man, Sydney Smith Jr., met the party. The ceremony required but a few minutes.

Crowds Outside Mansion.

The sidewalks outside the Vanderbilt mansion were jammed with those who wanted to get a glimpse of the bride and her guests, two hours before the ceremony. And despite the cold, they stayed until the last guest had left.

TAXI DRIVER INDICTED FOR DEATH OF WOMAN

Prayer Book of Victim Found on Running Board of Car Detail of Evidence.

Mrs. Krewinghaus' prayer book, which she was carrying in her hand as she left the Rock Church after midnight mass, was found on the running board of the taxi driven by Fisher, and was an important detail of the evidence considered by the grand jury.

Fisher, who drove a Yellow Cab, denied having struck anyone. Arthur Bequette, driver of a Premier cab, who saw the accident and who drove the injured woman to a hospital, said the Yellow cab struck her. A woman passenger in the Yellow cab said she was not aware of any accident.

Mrs. Krewinghaus was 52 years old, and lived at 4966 Lotus avenue. Her husband, her mother and her four daughters had accompanied her to the midnight mass, and were near when the accident occurred.

The penalty for manslaughter, on conviction, is imprisonment in the penitentiary for two to 10 years.

'GHOST' OF CEMETERY IN COUNTY PROMISES TO BE GOOD

Residents of Fairview City Found Riding in Memorial Park at Night Takes Pledge in Court.

The "ghost" of Memorial Park Cemetery, Lucas and Hunt roads, St. Louis County, has promised to be good.

The "ghost" made his first known appearance last Monday night and had the misfortune of meeting the police forces of the newly incorporated town of Fairview City, in the northwest section of the county. As related before Police Judge Weaver of Fairview City yesterday, Officers Kent and Johnson, constituting the Fairview City force, went to Memorial Park Cemetery about midnight Monday to assist a stalled motorist. As they reached the cemetery the policemen admitted they were somewhat startled by the appearance of a figure sitting astride a light-colored horse and carrying a white dog.

"Who are you?" Patrolman Johnson testified he called out. "I'm the cemetery ghost," was the reply, according to Johnson. Johnson said further inspection disclosed the "ghost" to be Tom Atkinson, 40 years old, a resident of Fairview City. Atkinson was found guilty of peace disturbance and intoxication and was fined $25 and costs. The fine was stayed by Judge Weaver on the "ghost's" promise to refrain from further night riding.

WOMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH AGAINST TREE BY TRUCK

Mrs. Mamie May Decapitated by the Front Bumper of a Two-Ton Motor Vehicle.

Driver Attributes Accident to Failure of Brakes to Work as He Approached Traffic Sign.

Mrs. Mamie May, 47 years old, of 2814 Delmar boulevard, was decapitated yesterday afternoon, when she was crushed between the front bumper of a two-ton automobile truck and a tree, at the northwest corner of Pine boulevard and Compton avenue.

The truck driver, Charles Roskowske, 27, of 1805 (rear) Montgomery street, was arrested, and is being held at Laclede Avenue Station for the coroner's inquest, because of his failure to make both the truck and the property of the Whitaker Hardware and Contractors' supply Co., 2348 North Market street.

Statement of Owner. Traffic at the intersection where the fatality occurred is regulated by an automatic traffic signal. Roskowske told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he was driving north in Compton at 4:45 o'clock, between 10 and 12 miles an hour. As he reached the traffic signal, which had been permitting north and south traffic to move, changed for east and west traffic.

"The front wheels of my truck were in Pine boulevard when the signal changed and I attempted to apply my brakes," Roskowske said. "The brakes failed to work and the truck kept going, striking and overturning a westbound Ford coupe, and struck the woman and then crashed into the tree."

Mrs. May was crossing Compton avenue from east to west on the north side of Pine boulevard. Roskowske said he did not see her until after he had struck the coupe. He stated he had been driving a truck for five years without serious accident prior to yesterday. He was arrested about three years ago for speeding and paid court costs.

Victim on Business Mission. Mrs. May's husband, John, said his wife left home at 2 p. m. to go to city hall to pay the water license on the Delmar boulevard property which she owned. It is presumed she was walking home as no other explanation of her presence at Compton and Pine has been offered.

UNDER MURDER CHARGE

Wanderer Returned to Tell Story of Accidental Killing of Friend.

By Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 8.—Jim Sublett is free today after 20 years of wandering about the country with a murder charge hanging over his head. Sublett killed Joe Dillard, an old friend, with a bullet intended for another man during an altercation in 1905. He immediately left the country, and although a nation-wide search was instituted, he was never apprehended.

The agony suffered by Sublett over the killing of his friend and the terrors of constant flight led him to surrender several weeks ago. He was placed in jail at Galena, Mo. The story told by the prisoner won him many friends. Relatives, including the wife and daughter of the slain man, visited Sublett in his cell, and all kindness was shown him. Public sympathy grew rapidly and at last Judge Stewart and Prosecuting Attorney Hicks, meeting with relatives and other officers agreed to waive the charges, and Sublett was released. He returned to his home at Piney, Ark.

HOULTON, Me., Jan. 8.—Aroostook County potato farmers are telling in terms of millions today for the first time in five years. If the central market price of $6.50 a barrel holds, the value of last year's crop of 12,570,000 bushels, from the "world's potato center," will exceed $40,000,000. The Aroostook farmer will not get rich but he will pay a good part of his fertilizer and banking indebtedness.

TWO WOMEN FRIENDS OF SUSPECTS HELD

Associates of Men Arrested After Mateer Murder Deny Knowledge of Shooting.

Two young women, friends of suspects taken in connection with the murder of Patrolman James H. Mateer, have been arrested by city detectives investigating the shooting of the policeman by two cigar store robbers at Grand and Olive Dec. 17.

The woman, Mrs. Dollie Harris, 18 years old, and Mrs. Myrtle Sang, 17, both have made statements admitting that they had been associating with Jack LaGarde and Tony Guarino, and told how they waited for their companions to rob Charles Reinhardt, operator at the Manchester Theater, 3247 Manchester avenue, on Dec. 13. LaGarde and Guarino are now held for the grand jury.

Both women deny, however, knowing anything of the Mateer shooting, although police have questioned them on the theory that a woman may have acted as lookout there. After the murder, a chauffeur reported seeing a woman in a dark "aviator's coat" at the corner during the robbery and flight, but subsequently an actress told police she was the woman the chauffeur had observed and explained she was waiting there for a friend.

The women said that LaGarde and Guarino spent the night of Dec. 17 with them in their room at 716 North Sarah street. Mrs. Harris said both men left their room at 9 a. m. Dec. 17. LaGarde's making an appointment with her to meet him at Sarah and Olive streets at 6:30 p. m.

She and her companion were in the room all day, she leaving for a few minutes at 4:30 p. m. to buy some shoes at a nearby store, according to her statement. She went to Sarah and Olive at 6:30, where LaGarde met her at 6:40 p. m. apparently calm and composed, she related. She heard Guarino appeared in the room about 3:30 p. m., she said.

Both women said they went with the men to the Manchester Theater, Dec. 13, waited in an automobile, and later shared in $74 loot. They are held in the House of Detention for questioning by the grand jury.

CHAUFFEUR, WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN FOUND DEAD IN HOME

New York Police Think Man Beat Family to Death and Ended Own Life.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Thomas King, a chauffeur, his wife, Nora, and their three children, the oldest 5 years old, were found dead today in their home on the upper West side of Manhattan. The wife and children apparently had been beaten to death, and King's throat was cut with a razor.

Police believe King killed his family and then took his own life after turning on the gas in his apartment.

Police Hold Back Crowd
At Vanderbilt Wedding

Consuelo, Younger Daughter of William K., Becomes Bride of Earl E. T. Smith—Ceremony in Fifth Avenue Home.

By Leased Wire to the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Consuelo Vanderbilt, younger of the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, was married yesterday afternoon to Earl E. T. Smith, son of Mrs. C. Whitney Carpenter of this city and Newport, by her marriage to Sidney J. Smith.

The wedding was simple, in the sense there was no outdoor show, the entire ceremony being kept within the limits of the household. But that did not interfere with the richness of its setting nor of its private pageantry. It was a beautiful affair.

The decorations were tasteful, but profuse. They consisted mainly of smilax, growing pink azaleas and calla lilies, some intermingled with palms and other flowers that the drawing room, in which the ceremony was performed, was transformed into a floral bower which recognized neither season nor latitude. The flowers ranged from the tropics to the Far North and covered every zone in which flowers grow.

Golden Crucifix on Altar.
The improvised altar, built in the light of the cathedral glass windows of the Fifth avenue front of the home, was covered with green cloth. On it stood a golden crucifix and on either side were tall candlesticks, in each of which a great candle burned.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas F. Murphy, rector of the Church of the Resurrection and formerly of St. Patrick's Cathedral. He is the priest who married the father and mother of the bride, Mrs. M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, in which parish the Vanderbilt residence is, was present.

Promptly at 4 o'clock the bridal procession formed at the entrance to the drawing room. Father Murphy, escorted by two altar boys, led. He was followed by the Paulist choristers singing the bridal chorus from the "Rose Maiden" cantata by Cowan. Behind the boys came the matron of honor, Mrs. Frederick C. Church, sister of the bride, walking alone and followed by the bride on the arm of her father.

As the bride reached the altar the bridegroom and his best man, Sydney Smith Jr., met the party. The ceremony required but a few minutes.

Crowds Outside Mansion.
The sidewalk outside of the Vanderbilt mansion was jammed with those who wanted to get a glimpse of the bride and her guests, two hours before the ceremony. And despite the cold, they stayed until the last guest had left.

Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte Fined by the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—For failure to serve as a juror, Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte has been fined $100.

TAXI DRIVER INDICTED FOR DEATH OF WOMAN

Prayer Book of Victim Found on Running Board of Car Detail of Evidence.

O'Neal Fisher, taxicab driver, was indicted on a manslaughter charge yesterday, for the death of Mrs. Genevieve Krewinghaus, struck by a cab early Christmas morning at Grand boulevard and Cook avenue.

Mrs. Krewinghaus' prayer book, which she was carrying in her hand as she left the Rock Church after midnight mass, was found on the running board of the taxi driven by Fisher. It was an important detail of the evidence considered by the grand jury.

Fisher, who drove a Yellow Cab, denied having struck anyone. Arthur Bequette, driver of a Premier cab, who saw the accident and who drove the injured woman to a hospital, said the Yellow cab struck her. A woman passenger in the Yellow cab said she was not aware of any accident.

Mrs. Krewinghaus was 52 years old, and lived at 4966 Lotus avenue. Her husband, her mother and her four daughters had accompanied her to the midnight mass, and were near when the accident occurred.

The penalty for manslaughter, on conviction, is imprisonment in the penitentiary for two to 10 years.

'GHOST' OF CEMETERY IN COUNTY PROMISES TO BE GOOD

Resident of Fairview City Found Tiding in Memorial Park at Night Takes Pledge in Court.

The "ghost" of Memorial Park Cemetery, Lucas and Hunt roads, St. Louis County, has promised to be good.

The "ghost" made his first known appearance last Monday night and had the misfortune of meeting the police force of the newly incorporated town of Fairview City, in the northwest section of the county. As related before Police Judge Weaver of Fairview City yesterday, Officers Kent and Johnson, constituting the Fairview City force, went to Memorial Park Cemetery about midnight Monday to assist a stalled motorist. As they reached the cemetery the policemen admitted they were somewhat startled by the appearance of a figure sitting astride a light-colored horse and carrying a white dog.

"Who are you?" Patrolman Johnson testified he called out.

"I'm the cemetery ghost," was the reply, according to Johnson.

Johnson said further inspection disclosed the "ghost" to be Tom Atkinson, 40 years old, a resident of Fairview City. Atkinson was found guilty of peace disturbance and intoxication and was fined $25 and costs. The fine was stayed by Judge Weaver on the "ghost's" promise to refrain from further night riding.

Prosperity Predicted for First Half of 1926

It is reported that the first part of 1926 will see an era of good business, judged by the activity displayed in most lines of enterprise during the past six months.

During the past six months the demand for upholstered furniture made in the Prueck-Litton Co. factory, 4th and St. Charles, has been tremendous, and today this fine upholstered furniture graces many St. Louis homes.

MISSOURI DRY LAW CASE

TO BE APPEALED TO U.S. COURT

Question Involves Admissibility of Evidence Obtained Without Search Warrant.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8.—A ruling by the State Supreme Court, sustained admissibility in a prohibition case of evidence obtained without a search warrant was appealed today to United States Supreme Court by attorneys for Tom Horton of Charleston County, whose conviction on a charge of possessing whiskey was affirmed by the State Supreme Court on Jan. 30, last.

Supreme Court on Jan. 30 today granted a writ of error on which the appeal will be carried to the United States Supreme Court. Horton was indicted on two counts, one of possessing seven gallons of whiskey and the other of possessing a still. He was convicted in the lower court on both counts, and fined $200 and sentenced to six months in jail on each count. Defense counsel contended on appeal that a motion to suppress the evidence should have been sustained by the trial court, on the ground the Sheriff and a Federal prohibition agent made the raid on an invalid search warrant, which was admitted to be invalid by the State. The Sheriff testified that while the raid was in progress the officers saw Horton's wife breaking several jars of whiskey in an out-house and seized the liquor.

The court then searched the house and found a still. The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Judge J. T. White, affirmed the conviction on the possession count, holding that because the offense was committed in the presence of the officers they had a right to arrest Horton. The court reversed the conviction of possession of a still, holding the still was not in plain view of the officers, and they had no right to make a search of the house without a search warrant.

AUTOPSY FINDING THAT WOMAN DIED FROM NATURAL CAUSES

Report Made in Case of Mrs. Laura Malinsky of Flora, Ill.—State's Attorney Ordered Inquiry.

Mrs. Laura Malinsky of Flora, Ill., whose body was exhumed for an autopsy Dec. 12 last, died from natural causes, probably food poisoning. That was the report made yesterday by Dr. Ralph Thompson of the National Pathological Laboratory and Dr. W. D. Collier of the St. Louis University faculty, who had been retained as pathological experts in the case.

Dr. Thompson made his report to the Flora law firm of Smith & Smith, attorneys for Ernest Malinsky, husband of Mrs. Malinsky, and Dr. Collier referred his finding to State's Attorney Williams, who had ordered the inquiry.

Mrs. Malinsky, who was 54 years old, died Sept. 16 last of an illness which attacked her after she had eaten some watermelon.

SKULL OF OSAGE INDIAN SHOWN TO JURY IN INQUIRY

Assistant Attorney General Asks Federal Agents to Prevent Liquor From Being Given to Osages.

U. S. JURISDICTION IN MURDER CASES

Reports $10,000 Was Paid to Stop Previous Investigation May Be Brought Before Body at Guthrie.

By the Associated Press. GUTHRIE, Ok., Jan. 8.—The battered skull of Anna Brown, first victim of an alleged death ring in the Osage country was taken today before the United States grand jury here.

Edwin Brown, assistant United States Attorney-General, said today that the skull of Anna Brown, first victim of an alleged death ring in the Osage country was taken today before the United States grand jury here.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

GUTHRIE, Ok., Jan. 8.—Bitter reports may be brought before the Federal grand jury here which is investigating a series of murders of Osage Indians in 1921, 1922 and 1923. The Indians said that their titles to oil lands might pass to white persons, who also in some cases, had life insurance on the victims.

Although years have elapsed since the murders began, there was no productive investigation until Edwin Brown, Assistant Attorney-General, was sent here from Washington last April. He was accompanied by the Department of Justice agents and they since have been gathering evidence for the jury. A report which has reached the investigators is that $10,000 was paid to two high officials to stop a previous investigation. These officials are now out of office. That the Government is determined to go the limit to protect the Indian wards from the whites who have plagued them in the Osage Hill country has become more evident with the arrival here of Oliver Pagan and O. H. Luehring, Assistant Attorney-General from Washington. Pagan is an expert on indictments, while Luehring is known as a prosecutor. They will assist Brown.

Five witnesses were heard yesterday. They possessed information concerning the murder of Anna Brown, an Osage. Her murder and the subsequent murder of her sister, Mrs. Reta Smith, made another sister, Mrs. Ernest Burkhardt, sole heir to a $1,000,000 estate. Mrs. Burkhardt's husband is under arrest charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Smith. W. K. Hale, wealthy ranch man, an uncle of Burkhardt, also is under arrest.

Mrs. Burkhardt has been subpoenaed as a witness. She was reported in ill health, but yesterday she walked about the streets in her blanket.

Burkhardt was taken from jail yesterday to the Federal Building where he was questioned by Brown and others. Denial was made later that Burkhardt had made a confession or would testify before the grand jury.

At the conclusion of the day's testimony, 25 unimportant witnesses were excused. The other 125 must remain here. The grand jury may complete its work this week, but it is more likely it will be here until the middle of next week.

Good Humor General. Among the witnesses on hand are Roy Bunch, a young white man, and his Osage wife. The latter was married to Bunch after her Osage husband, Henry Roan, was found shot to death in his automobile.

The presence in town of so many Indians from the Osage country and so many white putlaws on leave from prison to testify before the jury has resulted in reports that every man has something on his hip and what with revolvers and corn whisky, street shooting might be expected. The facts are there has been no shooting and no public drinking. Everybody is in good humor, saying those who have reason to believe they will be indicted.

SKULL OF OSAGE INDIAN SHOWN TO JURY IN INQUIRY

Assistant Attorney General Asks Federal Agents to Prevent Liquor From Being Given to Osages.

U. S. JURISDICTION IN MURDER CASES

Reports $10,000 Was Paid to Stop Previous Investigation May Be Brought Before Body at Guthrie.

By the Associated Press.
GUTHRIE, Ok., Jan. 8.—The battered skull of Anna Brown, first victim of an alleged death ring in the Osage country was taken today before the United States grand jury here.

Edwin Brown, assistant United States Attorney-General, said several Osages had been under the influence of liquor and it was feared their testimony might be affected.
Mr. Brown has requested Federal agents to keep a sharp lookout for liquor and to arrest any one responsible for distributing it among the Indians. Brown said that the Government has decided it has jurisdiction in several of the killings, and that its inquiry had been widened to include murder charges as well as those of conspiracy against wards of the United States.

the Federal grand jury here which is investigating a series of murders of Osage Indians in 1921, 1922

FORD TO BUILD BIGGEST AIRSHIP, ALL METAL

Dirigible, Two and One-Half Times as Large as Shenandoah, to Be Fireproof, Lightning Proof and Weather Proof.

NEW YORK Jan. 8.—Completion of the designs for the largest metal-clad airship in the world, two and one-half times the size of the Shenandoah, to be built by the Air Development Corporation at the Ford Airport, Dearborn, Mich., is announced by Carl F. Fritzsche, general manager of the corporation.

Speaking last night at a meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Fritzsche said that the ship will be luxuriously equipped for commercial use but in the event of war can be equipped for military purposes in 48 hours. Another smaller ship, one-tenth the size of the Shenandoah will also be built, he said.

capacity of 5,000,000 cubic feet and the smaller a capacity of 200,000. Both ships will be fireproof, lightning proof and weather proof. Fritzsche said none of which requirements are fulfilled by fabric lighter-than-air craft. The smaller will be used for demonstration and experimental purposes.

Discussing the future of lighter-than-air craft, Fritzsche said: "The trans-continental metal-clad commercial airship of the future will show an operating cost of fuel and power plane charges per passenger mile not greatly in excess of the present cost per passenger mile of touring in a first class limousine."

He expressed doubt that airships ever will be used extensively for trans-Atlantic travel since too much of the available space would have to be used for fuel.

Holdup at Paris, Ill.
Special to the Post-Dispatch
PARIS, Ill., Jan. 8.—Two masked men held up the night agent of the Interurban line early today and compelled him to hand over an undetermined amount of cash. As they backed out of the office, they were surprised by three policemen. A running fight followed for several blocks, and it is believed that one of the men was wounded before they escaped through a side street.

Combing Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

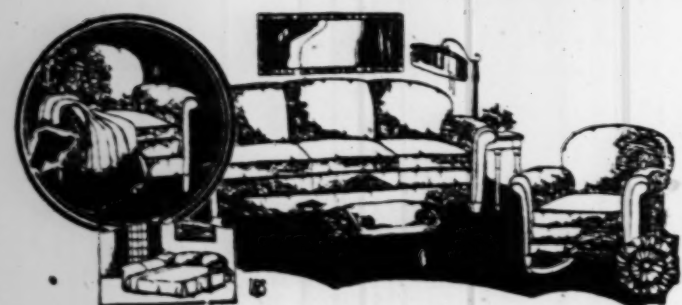

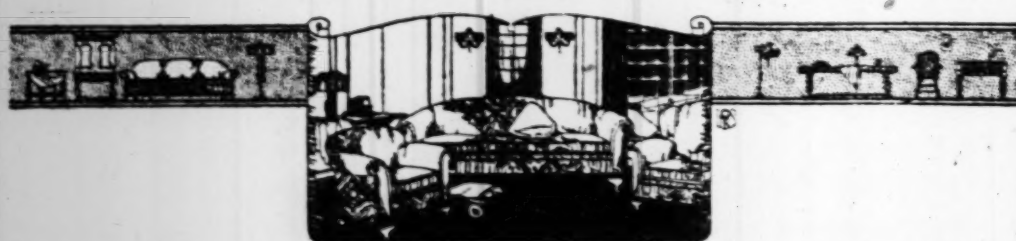

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and burning of the scalp will stop at once and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, soft and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and it never fails to do the work.

MATRIMONIAL 'AD' RESULTS

IN INDICTMENT OF WOMAN

Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses Charged; Admitted She Was "Not a Beauty."

An indictment returned at Springfield, Ill., yesterday, against Mrs. Anna B. Rice of Bloomington, Ill., charging the obtaining of money under false pretenses, was based on a matrimonial advertisement, according to St. Louis postal inspectors, in which the correspondent modestly admitted she was not a beauty, but would shortly inherit $10,000.

The advertisement, printed in a Kansas City matrimonial publication, attracted the attention of John Adams of St. Louis and Jack Smiley of Sparks, Neb., from whom she is said to have obtained $500. "I am not a beauty," the advertisement read, "but next time I appear and a good cook and housekeeper. I am of the 'brunette' type, dark brown, wavy hair, large brown eyes, fair complexion, height 5 feet, weight 98. Dress neat but not extravagant. I own property and will inherit $10,000 in a short time. I would like to correspond with honest, fairly good-looking gentlemen, with view to marriage."

NEGRO BOY IDENTIFIED AS

ROBBER WHO SHOT MERCHANT

Prisoner, Who Says He Is Only 13.

Admiral, Police Say That He Wounded Lafayette Wells.

Charles Milburn, a Negro, of 3316 Market street, who says he is 13 years old, but looks older, confessed last night, police say, that he was the robber who on Sept. 15 fired two shots at Lafayette Wells, a storekeeper at 2323 Atlantic street, in a holdup.

He was arrested by detectives at his home because he fitted a description supplied by Wells, who identified him. Wells was shot in the left elbow and right shoulder by a youth who took $35 from his cash register.

According to the police, Milburn said he took a revolver from his brother's dresser, replacing it after the robbery. He was sent to the house of detention.

EX-KAISER ATTACKS JEHOVAH

Urges Germans to Break Away From God to the Jews.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—(Jewish Telegraph Agency.)—The former Kaiser has contributed an article to a book published today, "The Opposition of the Germanic Movement to Judaism and Christianity," in which he urges Germans to "break away from the belief that Jehovah, the God of the Jews, is our God."

"Christ never used the word Jehovah," Wilhelm writes. He contends Isaiah shows that the Christian idea of God came from Persia, the Jews having come under the influence of the monotheism of Zoroaster during the Babylonian captivity. He declares it is the Aryan religion of Zoroaster, not Judaism, that is the real forerunner of Christianity. "Our slogan must be: Away from Judaism, with its Jehovah," he writes.

CHURCH QROPS VAUDEVILLE

Plan of Erie (Pa.) Pastor Fails When Given Trial.

By the Associated Press.

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 8.—There will be no more vaudeville acts during the Sunday evening service in the First Baptist Church of Erie. After a trial last Sunday the advisory board of the church has decided to do away with the vaudeville. The plan was inaugurated by the pastor, the Rev. C. C. Horsman, in an effort to ascertain the feeling of churchgoers toward the theater. The board members made the announcement that the acts would be discontinued at the request of the pastor, who is reported as seriously ill. After last Sunday's program in the First Church, during which two vaudeville acts were staged, the pastors of all the Erie churches expressed their disapproval.

ABOUT $12,000 PAID FOR FURS

Popular Bluff Fur Bought Pits of Animals Killed Near There.

By the Associated Press.

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Jan. 8.—Approximately $12,000 has been spent this winter by local concerns purchasing pelts of wild animals killed in Butler and surrounding counties. One concern paid out a total of $4837.45 up to Jan. 1, and since the hunting season on fur-bearing animals does not close in Missouri until Feb. 1, it is expected that the amount paid hunters and farmers will probably double that amount.

Many opossums, raccoons, muskrats and skunk have been killed this year than any year in the past so far as local records show.

LOST GIRL FOUND, UNCLE HELD

Man, 60, Accused of Holding Niece, 13, a Prisoner for Year.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Elsie Dunlavy, 13 years old, of Manchester, Ia., who disappeared from her home last February, was found today with a 60-year-old uncle, John Dunlavy, whom she accused of having held her a prisoner in an apartment here.

The girl was found after her father had searched many months, through a letter smuggled out of the house and sent to Dunlavy's wife in Rochester, N. Y. The police said Dunlavy admitted the girl's accusations. He is under arrest.

Murder Victim an Ex-Convict.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The bullet-riddled body of a man found in a lonely park roadway here has been identified by police as that of James O'Brien, alias Charles Smith, ex-convict and police character. Police said the murder showed the technique peculiar to gang killings. It was first thought the victim was Pete Genna, one of the three surviving brothers of the notorious Genna family, who disappeared after the death of Tony, third of the brothers to meet a violent death within six months.

"SAFETY FIRST" DISCUSSED AS SCHOOL TOPIC

Appointment of Older Boys as Traffic Monitors Also Favored at Board Meeting.

USE OF MORE SIGNS FOR DRIVERS URGED

Council Officials Stress
Need for New and Larger Equipment at Boulevard Stops.

"Safety first" as a regular part of the public school curriculum, education of parents and drivers, enlargement of "school zone" warning signs, and appointment of older boys as traffic monitors to guide children across the streets were discussed at a meeting of the safety committee of the Board of Education yesterday with representatives of civic organizations and city departments.

Allowing the older boys to direct traffic, as in Chicago, also was discussed, but unfavorably. "It is not advisable to clothe youngsters with that sort of authority," remarked Chief of Police Gerk. "Further, the drivers are likely to resent it."

He agreed with other speakers, however, in favoring the appointment of monitors to lead small children across the street, suggesting that the police department might assist by calling them to headquarters occasionally and giving them a word of instruction and a pat on the back. He said that in case of a large school on little-used streets, the street might be closed when children were arriving or leaving, as in New York.

To Revive Curriculum.
Superintendent Maddox announced that the instruction department was open to all suggestions of methods for teaching safety in the schools, since "safety first" had been decided upon for consideration in the revision of the curriculum now under way. "We believe that the subject of safety should be graded like arithmetic," he said. "Some habits can be inculcated in the kindergarten, and others not until the pupil is 12, 14 or even 18 years old and in high school."

Coroner Vitt, pointing out that of the 130 St. Louis children under 15 years old who were killed accidentally in 1925, only 30 were in traffic accidents and only six occurred at the schools, declared: "We can never effect a reduction of these figures simply by guarding children near the schools. They must be taught the right and wrong of hazards, and there is no better place to teach them than in the schoolroom."

Education for Parents.
Robert E. Lee of the Automobile Dealers' Association, who also represented the Safety Council, said that the council had accepted from Supt. Maddox the task of suggesting a course of teaching safety, if necessary a textbook, driving. "That will do more than any other one thing to develop safety in St. Louis, not only for the children, but for their parents. The children will become safety engineers in the home."

Neither the Police Department nor the Board of Education can patrol the home," remarked Ben Weidie of the Board's Safety Committee, suggesting that parents be educated through patrons' and parent-teacher associations. "If the principles taught in school meet with coldness from the parents the children are likely to disregard them."

Warnings for Drivers.
Dr. F. L. Magoon, Police Commissioner, considered the problem largely one of warning the drivers. Need for better signs and signals was emphasized by G. C. Varoun, secretary-manager of the Safety Council, who remarked that disregard for traffic regulations was fostered by failure to mark boulevards with stop signs. He said that work of teachers was the chief factor in cutting the number of St. Louis children killed in traffic accidents to one last September, as compared to 11 in September, 1924.

Roy P. Britton, president of the Automobile Club, offered the co-operation of that organization with the Board of Education, and told of a moving picture which the club has prepared to impress traffic hazards which, he said, is soon to be shown in St. Louis theaters.

The groups represented will meet again at the close of a dinner of the Safety Council Saturday night at Hotel Statler.

Actor's Bank Account Attached.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Alexander Carr of the Potaash and Perimeter team, haled into court for examination in supplemental proceedings on a judgment obtained by his former wife, Mary Carr, for $224 back alimony, told a tale of financial woes. The comedian yesterday declared his entire wealth consisted of about $100 in the bank and $15 in his pockets. He said he had been forced to give up a $200-a-week film contract because of the notoriety caused by his domestic affairs. The court attached half of his bank account.

House Committee Rejects Plan to Extend Monopoly Investigation to Home Industries.

TIRE MEN WANT TO POOL PURCHASES

This Would Minimize Speculative Feature of the Market, They Contend at Hearing.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A proposal to investigate the rubber and coffee industries in the United States was rejected today by the House Committee, which is inquiring into foreign monopolies in rubber, coffee and other raw materials.

The effort to expand the investigation to include conditions in the rubber and coffee trade in this country was made at an executive session of the committee by Representative Parks (Dem.) of Arkansas. It reflected a considerable movement already apparent among Democratic members of the House to bring into question the attitude of the present administration toward business methods at home.

The resolution would have called for inquiry into the "means and methods of manufacture, price and distribution of automobile tires and of all rubber products and rubber goods sold in the United States, and also the price, sale and distribution of coffee."

Charles H. Segar, president of the United States Rubber Co., New York City, today told the committee he opposed its present investigation as interfering with business.

Production costs on his company's Sumatra plantations average about 25 cents a pound, the witness said, or approximately 80 cents less than the prevailing market price.

He suggested that development of plantations, preferably on United States territory, offered the logical permanent solution of the present situation, and that Government aid should be only a last resort.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The means of defense of the American consumer against foreign monopolization of the supply of crude rubber were outlined yesterday by several tire manufacturers before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce which is investigating the control of raw materials necessary to American industries.

Legalization of co-operative buying by tire producers was urged upon the committee by A. L. Viles, secretary of the Rubber Association of America. W. O. Rutherford, vice president of the Goodrich Tire Co., and F. A. Seiberling of the Goodyear Tire Co. also testified.

The witnesses agreed that one of the best ways to meet the British restriction scheme, which probably will cost American consumers $400,000,000 this year, is to permit American manufacturers to combine in the purchase of their raw materials. This would minimize the speculative features of the market, and do much to stabilize conditions. It also would give the Americans more power in bargaining with the foreign plantations. Governmental aid in planting also was suggested as a possible aid to the industry.

Philippine Development.
Since the Philippines are being considered for many large plantations, it was pointed out that there are two legal obstacles at present in the way of a development there. The Legislature of that country has set a 2,000-acre limit on the amount of land that can be held by a single corporation. There also is a prohibition of the importation from Malaya and Sumatra of coeche labor, which would be necessary.

Temporarily, Seiberling said, there is little Americans can do but for the future he looked upon the extension of planting by Americans in the Philippines or in the Far East as the only possible solution of their present difficulties. Two American tire companies now have plantations in the Malaya region. The output of the wild trees in Brazil could also be stimulated, he suggested.

On Feb. 1 the Stevenson restriction plan will permit an exportation of rubber equal to that of 1920. But Viles pointed out that this standard was about 20 per cent below the potential production of that area. The stoppage of planting and the depletion of the labor supply in the last three years will make it impossible for exports of rubber to keep pace with the demand. Rutherford told the committee that many recent uses for rubber had been abandoned because of high prices.

The representative of the manufacturers asserted that the Stevenson scheme was the direct cause of the present runaway market and that they had told the British in 1922 that what had happened would occur.

At that time, according to their testimony, they were told the control policy was necessary for the preservation of the Eastern plantations and that a price of 30 or 35 cents was all that was desired.

They were promised, they said, that the price would never go much higher than that. In this instance, they added, the market seemed to have run away from the controllers, as was predicted, with the result that Americans have paid hundreds of millions of dollars for rubber.

Reading into the record reports of large profits made in 1925 by American tire companies. Representative Shallenberger of Nebraska, a member of the committee, charged that these corporations were getting a share of the millions said to be going as tribute to British monopolists. He declared that much of the rubber used by which officials promised will greatly reduce cost of production, is to be inaugurated at the United States Government helium plant here.

NEW PLAN TO HANDLE HELIUM

R. A. Cattell, engineer in charge of the helium division, Bureau of Mines, conferred with C. F. Cook, incharge of the plant. Cattell said the first helium tank car would arrive probably this month. At present the gas is stored in drums, each holding 176 feet. The tank car will have a capacity of 210,000 cubic feet.ALCOHOLISM DEATHS INCREASE
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Deaths from alcoholism and heart disease are increasing throughout the State, Dr. Matthias Nicoll Jr., Commissioner of the State Department of Health, said in a statement yesterday based on reports for November, 1925.The general health is reported as normal with decreases in diphtheria, scarlet fever, influenza, pneumonia, tuberculosis and small-pox. Despite the decline in the number of cases of influenza and pneumonia, an increase in the number of deaths from these cases was noted.Restriction Scheme Ready for Revision, London Paper Says.
LONDON, Jan. 8.—The Stevenson rubber restriction scheme having played its part, it is probably now due for fundamental revision, says an editorial in the Westminster Gazette, discussing the general inadvisability of any scheme of protection or trade restriction."The Stevenson scheme," remarks the paper, "is in fact but a part of those protective schemes which recoil with boomerang effect upon the head of their authors. Even Secretary Hoover admits that reprisals merely augment the evil."It is the general opinion in the rubber market that if the Stevenson scheme were scrapped there would still be an excess demand over the supply of rubber for some time to come. Rumors have been circulated that the British Government would advise an early repeal of the restrictive legislation to the Governments concerned, but thus far it has been impossible to obtain confirmation of this.

1800 Degrees Fahrenheit.

By the Associated Press.

LYNN, Mass., Jan. 8.—A thermometer capable of registering a temperature of more than 1800 degrees Fahrenheit has been developed in the Thomson Research Laboratory of the General Electric Co. here, it was announced today. Instead of glass, which would melt at a much lower temperature, fused quartz was used for the stem and bulb of the new instrument.
Mercury, which would boil and explode at such a heat was eliminated and gallium, one of the rarer met-

MOTHER AND GIRL, 3, DIE OF GAS FUMES AT DAYTONA, FLA.

Inquest Not to Be Held After Former Illinoisans Were Found Asphyxiated in Home.

DAYTONA, Fla., Jan. 8.—No inquest will be held in the death of Mrs. George Lookabe and her 3-year-old daughter, Jean, found dead in their home late yesterday from gas fumes when a public service employee broke into the room while following up complaints of a gas leakage. The husband, who left Tuesday on a business trip to Miami, was under the care of a physician today.

The Lookabes came here from Centralia, Ill. Investigators advanced the theory that the mother and child came to their death when a kettle boiled over extinguishing the flames while Mrs. Lookabe was attending her sick child. The two had been dead several hours when the bodies were discovered.

VESEVIVUS BEGINS TO SUBSIDE

Eruptions Continue, However, and Lava Rebuilds Old Crater.

NAPLES, Jan. 8.—The eruption of Mount Vesuvius, which began with violence Wednesday, is continuing. The internal rumblings, however, are diminishing in force, indicating, according to scientists, a speedy termination of the phenomenon. The crater last night presented a fantastic spectacle, projecting a huge, umbrella-shaped cloud of smoke, the under surface of which was radiantly red and the upper part lost in obscurity. Large incandescent cinders constantly shot upward from the crater and disappeared into the smoke. The molten lava, which has been flowing plentifully, is beginning to harden, building up again the crater formation which was torn away in the eruption of 1905. The director of the Vesuvius observatory is remaining at his post.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 8.—The $15,000 appeal bond of Harry Knight, who was convicted and sentenced to 15 years in prison for murder, today was ordered forfeited by the State Supreme Court. Knight's conviction was affirmed by the Supreme Court, Dec. 22, where it had been appealed from Henry County. The crime was committed in Johnson County, Aug. 21, 1923, and taken to Henry County on a chance of venue. No trace of Knight could be found, the court said, in forfeiting the bond.

Glenn Hamilton, 27 years old, 4242 Olive street, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary today by Circuit Judge Landwehr on a plea of guilty to robbery in the first degree.

Hamilton was arrested last November after he had robbed the drug store of Ernest Kent, 819 Sarah street. Frank Krokamp, who was in the drug store when the robbery was committed, followed Hamilton down the street and pointed him out to a passing policeman as the man who held up a drug store. He was later identified by other customers in the store at the time.

How Doctors Treat Colds and the Flu

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a swallow of water

—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure.

Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Get a family package, containing full directions, only 35 cents. At any drug store.

Lunch All You Want—Pie, Ice Cream, Chicken

Many people are afraid to eat midnight meals or heavy meals because the food ferments and causes gas. Next time you eat a heavy meal take a spoonful of the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc. (known as Adierka) and you will avoid any trouble from fermenting food and gas and will sleep fine.

Many people keep the OUTSIDE body clean but let their INSIDE body stay full of gas and poisons. Give the inside a REAL cleaning with the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as sold under the name of Adierka. This acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels, eliminates metabolic poisons and removes old matter which you never thought was in your system, and which caused sour stomach, nervousness, constipation, headache, etc.

Whether you eat too much heavy food, let Adierka REMOVE the undigested surplus and leave you feeling fine. OR, if you feel bloated, take away that full, bloated feeling. Even if your bowels move every day, Adierka brings out much Additional matter which might cause trouble. Don't waste time with laxative tablets but let Adierka give your system and bowels QUICK relief.

What Doctors Say: Dr. G. Eggers reports Adierka is the best medicine he has used in 27 years. Dr. W. H. Bernhart writes he gets along in his practice without Adierka. Dr. J. J. Weaver, a doctor for 52 years, he knows no medicine more reliably with GOOD effect.

Dr. L. Langlois prescribes Adierka daily with GOOD effect. J. E. Pougnet writes: "After using Adierka I feel better than for 20 years."

Adierka is a big surprise to people who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicines because of its REAL and lasting action. Sold by leading druggists everywhere. In St. Louis by Wolff-Williams Co., Endorse Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Co., and other leading druggists.

Your throat is the danger-point where most germs gain entrance to your system. Guard it, when exposed to disease, cold, or dust, with strict antiseptic treatment.

Carry these convenient, pleasant-tasting antiseptic tablets with you, and take them all day, wherever you happen to be—one every hour or so to treat sore throat; one every two or three hours to prevent infection. All druggists.

No More Than Two Garments will be Sold to a Customer.

The Most Astounding Reductions Ever Made in the Men's Clothing Industry

We are caught at the end of a backward Fall season with the heaviest stock of fine high-priced suits and overcoats that we have ever carried over in our history. It is absolutely imperative that we dispose of these garments, so as to leave our racks open for the shortly incoming Spring merchandise. It is exceedingly bitter medicine for us to swallow such a gigantic loss of tens of thousands of dollars. But don't forget—our loss is your gain.

Taking into consideration our already fine values in high-caliber clothing, such a mammoth reduction is without precedent, and we further believe that you will find this the most legitimate sale ever conducted in this city.

You can now purchase an outfit of two hand-tailored, fine fabric suits for a lower price than was formerly asked for one. You have heard of Golde value before; here is the opportunity for thousands to become acquainted with just what that means, at the one low price of $22.50. Nothing is held back—all the latest Fall patterns, such as blue diagonals, grays, pin stripes, serges and fancy mixtures are included. Two-button broad-shouldered English models and stylish, desirable double-breasteds predominate. But there are plenty of conservative styles for the more sedate dresser.

FIVE ON BATTLESHIP HURT IN EXPLOSION

Detective Shell Drops From Breach of Antiaircraft Gun on Oklahoma.

By the Associated Press.
SAN PEDRO, Cal., Jan. 8.—The explosion of a defective shell aboard the battleship Oklahoma, during anti-aircraft practice off Catalina Island yesterday resulted in the injury of five men.

Frank P. Rahn, chief gunner, Chicago, received a deep cut which may result in the loss of the sight of his left eye. He was rushed in a hydroplane to the Naval Hospital at San Diego.

The explosion occurred when one gun of a battery of four three-inch anti-aircraft guns failed to fire. As the breech was opened the defective shell dropped to the deck and exploded.

The accident occurred about noon, but nothing was known of it here until the battleship returned to port last night.

The other injured:
Howard R. Flinker, gun captain, Brooklyn, N. Y., badly cut foot and slight powder burns.

Robert Reiss, gunner's mate, Milwaukee, cut hand and slight powder burns.

Charles C. Wooten, gunner's mate, Lawrence, Tex., cut on leg, slight powder burns.

Raymond E. Oglesbee, gunner's mate, Silver, Ore., minor cut on foot, slight powder burns.

CATHOLICS AND JEWS REJECTED

National Pan-Hellenic Refuses to Admit Sororities.

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 8.—Petitions from one Catholic and three Jewish college sororities for admission to the National Pan-Hellenic have been voted down at the Pan-Hellenic Congress here. One other sorority, Alpha Delta Theta, was admitted.

Members of the Pan-Hellenic said yesterday that rejection of the Catholic and Jewish sorority petitions did not establish any policy, but was merely the opinion of the congress on the individual applicants. Names of the sororities were not made public. Alpha Delta Theta, the admitted sorority, was organized at Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky., in 1919, and has 10 chapters.

TRAFFIC SHAKES WAYSIDE INN, SO FORD WILL MOVE THE ROAD

Newspaper Says Automobile Manufacturer Will Spend $80,000 to Reroute Turnpike.

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—The Boston Herald says that Henry Ford has arranged to move the main highway half a mile from the Wayside Inn, in Sudbury, at an estimated cost of $80,000, the whole sum to be supplied by him, because the constant passage of heavy vehicles along the Boston and Western turnpike is causing the historic Inn to vibrate and its safety is jeopardized.

Ford also wishes to straighten the curve in the road which is a menace to motorists and pedestrians. A visitor in the Inn recently was killed by an automobile on account of the curve. The road, when straightened, will pass over some of Ford's property, which he intends to give to the State.

Ford, with his wife and others, arrived at the Inn Tuesday and will remain until Sunday or Monday.

WALL BUILDING IS SOLD Structure Bid in for $102,500 at Foreclosure.

The Wall Building, at the northwest corner of Vandeventer avenue and Olive street, was sold at foreclosure yesterday at the east front door of the courthouse. It was bought by Attorney Marion C. Early, representing Kennedy Bros. of Washington, D. C., at the price of $102,500.

The building was sold under a $200,000 deed of trust, which was held by Kennedy Bros. and they take the property subject to prior incumbrances. The property formerly was owned by E. Kirby Smith, banker and hotel proprietor of Shreveport, La., who executed the deed of trust to Kennedy Bros. as part payment for the Meridian Mansions, an apartment hotel at Washington, which he subsequently lost.

AUTOIST FINED $1000, FLED AFTER ACCIDENT

Maximum Penalty on Two Charges Is Assessed by Police Judge Rosecan.

A $1000 fine for careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident, the maximum of $1000 on each count, was imposed by Police Judge Rosecan today against August Walther, 32 years old, of 5216 Vermont avenue, who ran down John Goetz of 6703A Pennsylvania avenue, as he started to board a Broadway car at Haven street, Oct. 30.

Witnesses said Walther stopped his machine, then changed his mind and drove off. Policemen who arrested him two hours later testified he was intoxicated, but inasmuch as there was no evidence that he was drunk at the time of the accident, a charge of driving while intoxicated was dismissed. Goetz suffered fractured ribs and injured knees. Walther did not testify.

Joseph Wolf, 61, of 2833 Lemp avenue, was fined $500 for driving while intoxicated, by Judge Rosecan. Policemen said he was drunk when arrested Sept. 27 at Gravois and Phillips avenues after a collision. Wolf admitted drinking a bottle of home-brew.

MAJORITY REPORT APPROVES
ITALIAN DEBT SETTLEMENT

It Says Arrangement Would Aid
American Farmers—Hull Files Dissenting Report.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Approval by the House of the majority report of the committee on the Italian debt settlement was urged today as a means of aiding American agricultural interests in a majority report by the Ways and Means Committee. The report was drafted by Representative Crisp (Dem.) of Georgia, a member of the American Debt Commission.

A minority report opposing ratification was filed by Representative Hull (Dem.) of Tennessee, who described the agreement as "more in the nature of a cancellation" than a settlement.

Crisp report said the commission had approved the agreement after careful consideration of Italy's capacity to pay. Italy is the only European nation of any consequence, it said, which has reduced its foreign debt.

Financial rehabilitation of Italy, it asserted, would be fostered by the settlement, and this would increase that country's capacity to buy American farm products. Hull said he was ready to support a reasonable settlement, but could not favor the one proposed.

Another minority report is expected to be filed by Representative Rainey of Illinois, a Democrat, on the committee.

Man Cuts Wrists With Razor. Albert Harris, 43 years old, who told policemen he had no home, walked into Central Police Station at 7:30 p. m. yesterday and announced he had cut his wrists with a safety razor blade. RESPONSE TO MOVE TO GET U. S. TO BUILD NEAR PLAZA

City Plan Commission to Consider Asking Congress to Change Site for New Building Here.

BUSINESS BODY AGAINST PLAN

Association Would Fight to Have Federal Structure Placed at Fourth and Chestnut Streets.

The City Plan Commission, which a few years ago made an effort to locate a new Federal building on one of the streets bordering the Memorial Plaza, will consider at its next meeting whether it shall ask Congress to alter the plans contained in a pending bill for a building on the Government-owned site at the southeast corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets.

Feb. 9 is the date for the Commission's next regular meeting, but Alexander S. Langsdorf, vice chairman, said today that he would at once consult members of the Commission as to a special meeting for discussion of the Federal building question. Chairman E. J. Russell of the Commission is in Jamaica, La., and will return to St. Louis tomorrow.

Langsdorf favors a renewed effort to bring about a plaza location for the new Federal building. As held in a Washington dispatch, legislation by Congress would be necessary to dispose of the Fourth street site and to acquire another adjoining the plaza. Congressman Dyer, who is in active charge of the measure at Washington, has taken a position in favor of Fourth street, but has said that he would not oppose the plaza location if it were shown to be more advantageous.

Fourth Street Site Opposed. "I cannot say, in advance of a meeting, what the Commission will decide to do," Vice Chairman Langsdorf said. "But the Commission's view in the past has been that, wherever the Government may decide to put a new building, it should not place it at the Fourth and Chestnut site."

"That site (118 feet on Fourth by 151 on Chestnut) is too small for a public building to cost more than $1,000,000. The construction of a building there will be an obstacle to the commission's plans for river front development."

"That particular corner is one which it is most important to save for development of the district. The Chestnut street grade is the easiest of any of the streets in that region, and one of the first steps in river front development should be the widening of Chestnut street to Fourth. With a new Federal building at the southeast corner, and the Pierce Building and Merchants' Exchange on the north side of the street, widening would be impossible."

"The commission also took the view, when it looked into this matter previously, that the future of that part of Fourth street was in the hands of the river front development, and that the Government should not take away from it."

Views of Federal Officials. "In December, 1920, the commission made a canvass of the heads of 22 Federal offices here, some of which were and are still rented quarters in various parts of the downtown section. Of the 22, 17 favored a plaza location for the Federal building, two favored Fourth street, and three favored Chestnut street. The latter three were the great inspection and meat inspection department, and one of the offices in charge of river work."

The City Plan Commission, on completing its special work as a planning commission recently, announced that its attention would next be given to river front development. It has asked for an appropriation of $10,000 for the cost of a study of the river front and a comprehensive plan for its improvement.

HONORED AT BANQUET

Circuit Judge McElhinney.

FRIENDS HONOR JUDGE McELHINNEY, 25 YEARSON BENCH

Speakers at Banquet of 250 at Hotel Chase Praire His Record in County.

OFFICEHOLDERS AND LAWYERS PRESENT

Circuit Jurist, 74 Years Old, Announces He Will Retire at End of Three Years of Present Term.

Many nice and kindly things were said about Circuit Judge McElhinney of Clayton at a banquet at Hotel Chase Prairie last night celebrating his completion of 25 years of service on the bench—things which were unquestioned as true except by the guest of honor. But more significant of the esteem in which the veteran jurist is held than the speeches was the list of men who were glad to make them and the size and character of the audience.

Leaders of the bench and bar joined at the speakers' table, to the right and left of the pleasant-faced, gray-haired man being honored. Judge McElhinney sat as he does in court, head tilted as in reflection on what he hears, spectacles and smooth face glistening and gray mustache twitching with its wearer's smiles.

In the audience of 250 persons was an unusual gathering of the life of the city and county. Men who have held high office and now are the leaders in the community rubbed elbows with Clayton, courthouse employees. Many of the city Circuit Judges were present. So were most of the county officials. The board of Freeholders, which couldn't get a quorum "When I first went on the bench," was represented by half its members.

Democrats and Republicans. Judge McElhinney is a Republican, but his friends and associates are of both parties. Political antagonisms were put aside in adjacent seats were the witty toastmaster, former State Senator A. E. Gardner, and Richard F. Ralph, men high in party circles and with precinct workers who get out the votes. The city-county boundary was forgotten. Three leaders in the reform or criminal justice took part in the program.

Unable to attend, Chief Justice David E. Blair of the Supreme Court, Gov. Baker and Senator Williams sent regrets and Judge Earl K. Harrison of the Circuit Court. Judge McElhinney was an experienced jurist with a State-wide reputation. No trial judge in the State is better regarded than is Judge McElhinney. Probably he has disagreed with him at times, but not often. We take a long and careful study of the record before we conclude to reverse his judgment.

Many Tributes. Arthur V. Lashly, chairman of the Arrangements Committee and operating director of the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice, opened the program. J. C. Richardson of Kirkwood, who practiced law before Judge McElhinney started, recalled early days of county history. Senator Ralph paid tribute to the Judge's patience, courtesy, industry, learning and knowledge of the law. The program was a testimonial to the jurist's life; there was one county official never opposed for nomination.

Chancellor Hadley of Washington University, who tried cases before the Judge 20 years ago, and who is a leader in the National Crime Commission, said the Judge was one of the few men in public life with practically unlimited tenure of office. "An effective judiciary has been an element of strength rather than weakness in democratic government," he added.

George C. Willson, president of the St. Louis Bar Association, remarked on the 6500 pages added to the statutes since Judge McElhinney went on the bench and the great development of modern life they cover. James Booth of Pacific, Mo., a lawyer known throughout the State, spoke for the Franklin County bar. President Judge Dues of the St. Louis Court of Appeals said his court considered no judge in its district with higher regard than Judge McElhinney. Circuit Judge Hamilton spoke for the St. Louis judiciary and former United States Senator X. P. Willey, recent head of the Missouri Bar Association, spoke for the lawyers of the State.

Will Retire in 1928. Circuit Judge Wurdeman, Judge McElhinney's colleague at Clayton, presented the honor guest with a watch in behalf of all these present. Judge McElhinney, replying, said:

TARIFF RATES DENOUNCED BY DEMOCRATS IN HOUSE

Congressman Oldfield, Minority Leader, Says Many of the Duties Are Exorbitant.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A heated attack on existing tariff rates was made in the House yesterday by a number of Democratic members, including Representative Oldfield, Arkansas, acting minority leader, and chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. The tariff rates also were assailed in another way by Representative Harkley (Dem.) of Kentucky, who introduced a series of measures proposing restoration of tariff rates in effect in 1913 on cotton, iron, steel, wool, sugar, molasses and their manufactured products.

Oldfield asserted the tariff schedules on aluminum, woolen products and cotton textiles were "exorbitant" and were working hardship on the American people.

"The people voted in 1924 for a plutocratic government and that is what they have," he said. "No plutocratic government has succeeded and this government cannot when the people understand the situation."

TURKISH NEWSPAPER RIDICULES U. S. ATTITUDE IN CARTOON

Explanation by Admiral Bristol of Failure to Ratify Lausanne Treaty.

By the Associated Press. CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 8.—An explanation of the status of the United States high commissioner, Admiral Bristol, who drew a cartoon and editorial to draw from the newspaper Republic, picturing Uncle Sam in an attitude of self-satisfaction with thumbs in vest and feet on the table, the paper prints a lengthy criticism of America's failure to ratify the treaty, which was signed in July, 1923.

Bristol's explanation contains nothing positive," the writer says. "It merely confirms that Uncle Sam has a full stomach and plenty of money and therefore is in no hurry to make peace with us. England, who was our greatest enemy, has ratified Lausanne, but America, against whom we did not even declare war, refuses to do so."

"We do not believe Uncle Sam's protestations of democracy and pacifism. If he rejects this treaty and thinks we will make another against our interests, he shows that he still misunderstands Turkey."

"America's ignorance of Eastern affairs is proverbial, but Uncle Sam's attitude toward us in this affair is the limit."

RUSSIAN EXPEDITION WILL EXPLORE VAST ARCTIC AREA

Recently Rechristened "Leningrad," 900 Miles South of Pole, May Serve as Wireless Base.

By the Associated Press. MOSCOW, Jan. 8.—A Russian expedition is to start shortly for the little-known and remote desert island, Nicholas II Land, in the Arctic Ocean, recently rechristened "Leningrad." The expedition, which will consist of at least 25 Russian scientific expeditions now at work in various parts of the world's knowledge of geography, archeology, ethnology and other sciences.

About 500 miles south of the North Pole, Leningrad, a huge island, was discovered by the Russian explorer, Vilksky, in 1913. It never has been explored nor properly charted. Its shores, which are believed to extend far into the Arctic Ocean, never have been established. The expedition may serve as a base for aerial and wireless communication between Europe and Asia.

TURKEY SEEKS 'TRANQUILLITY'

Tone of Newspaper Comment Indicates Compromise on Mosul.

By the Associated Press. CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 8.—The tone of the newspaper comment on the London papers indicates that the Turkish Government is preparing public opinion for a compromise arrangement with Great Britain regarding the disposition of Mosul, in Upper Mesopotamia.

"Turkey desires peace and tranquillity," a high Government official said to the Associated Press. "Under no circumstances does she want to launch on perilous adventures. Turkey is preoccupied with reforms. She wants to put her house in order. Her modernization schemes are extensive and she does not want to be diverted from them at present. It is for this reason that she is disposed to negotiate with England."

he had feared the presentation might be of a cane. He continued: "It is very gratifying to hear all the nice things said about me. I believe it should be the attitude of the people, who are many of our friends, that they ought to be investigated. There must be room for doubt. I am no longer young and when my term expires in three years I shall not run again."

NORRIS CHARGES COOLIDGE PLANS A TARIFF WALL

President Packing Commission With Protectionists, Nebraska Senator Declares.

MEMBERS OPPOSING POLICY OUSTED

Progressive to Cut Loose Soon With Attack Which He Says Will Shock the People.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Senator George W. Norris, progressive Republican of Nebraska, expects to cut loose in the Senate at the first opportunity against the manner in which the United States Tariff Commission, created by Congress to be a fact-finding body, has been "packed" by Presidents Harding and Coolidge to insure a protectionist majority on questions of tariff policy.

In a speech in the Senate the other day, Norris declared he was prepared to present concrete facts that would "shock the conscience of the American people."

Norris forecast in an interview today that the general lines of his promised disclosures which he said he would make in the course of two addresses bearing on pending resolutions calling for an investigation of the Tariff Commission and the way in which the so-called elastic sections of the Fordney-McCumber act have been administered. He said that he did not speak lightly in predicting that the revelations would shock the public conscience.

Norris has previously, in speeches and written articles, assailed the political philosophy which has guided the Harding and Coolidge administrations in their appointments to the Tariff Commission. In his next assault he proposes to call the names of officials in high place and to buttress his charges with specific facts.

Objects to Packing Body. "I make no charge against the probability of any man appointed to the commission," he said. "Every man is entitled to his viewpoint. But I do object to the packing of the Tariff Commission, a quasi-judicial body, with high tariff lobbyists in men who have spent their lives in trying to raise the tariff sky high."

"The commission was created by Congress with the central and paramount idea of taking the tariff out of politics. It was supposed to gather the facts about the tariff specifically and report them to Congress and the President."

"But what do we find in actual practice today? It is clear that Mr. Coolidge has a different notion of the functions of the tariff commission. He wants to use it to bolster up a partisan policy. He has perverted its use absolutely. He was to put on it not judges but advocates."

"Men opposed to this conception of the tariff have been taken out of policy by the commission. W. S. Culbertson was kicked upstairs and David J. Lewis was kicked downstairs. The only one of the old group left is Edward P. Costigan."

Upstairs and Downstairs. "Now Culbertson and Lewis didn't agree on the tariff. Culbertson was a protectionist and Lewis was a low tariff man. But they did agree that the duty of the commission was to find the truth and report it without regard to their personal opinions as to how high or low the rates ought to be."

"What happened? Culbertson made Minister in Romania. Lewis' term expired during the campaign and the President gave him a recess appointment. This was a good campaign stroke. The President's praises were sung and the newspapers praised him. They said the appointment proved the President's fairness—proved that he wanted to give the Tariff Commission a membership that would do its duty. Great was the credit given the President for appointing Lewis a Democrat, to high official place."

"Then what happened? The campaign ended and the President was re-elected. Lewis was dropped. The President did not send his name to the Senate, but sent the name of another man."

Senator King's Resolution. "Norris' disclosures have been made by the two pending resolutions for an investigation. The first was introduced last Monday by Senator King (Dem.) of Utah. Owing in his preamble to a widespread belief that the Tariff Commission as at present constituted is not carrying out the purposes for which it was organized, it is rather an agency which

The Political Undertow Rivalry of Plutocracies Shown in Aluminum Case

Stone, Only Cabinet Member Who Ever Seriously Challenged Secretary Mellon, Formerly a Morgan Lawyer—President Hedged About With Men Who Believe Great Wealth Above the Law.

By CHARLES MICHELSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—If Secretary of the Treasury Mellon resigns from the Cabinet as a consequence of the investigation launched by the presentation of the Federal Trade Commission's startling favoritism to his aluminum trust and the Department of Justice's equally scandalous midnight rescue statement, it will not be because of any sense of moral turpitude.

Rather the motive will be a feeling of outrage that he should be annoyed by people who do not understand the dignity of great wealth and do not understand that it is necessary that large organizations must not be hampered by the restrictions intended for the regulation of lesser entities.

The talk of resignation is inseparable from occasions of this kind, but this story shows that Cabinet officials rarely resign under fire, and then only when the pressure becomes so great that it becomes obvious that the President wants the office vacated—as in the cases of Daugherty and Denby.

Perhaps the incident is the answer to the question so often asked why more of our men of enormous wealth are not selected for high places in the Government.

Wealth and Ruthlessness. The trouble appears to be that to attain to vast fortune a man must possess the faculty of ruthlessness and the feeling not necessarily that he is above the law, but that such enactments as the anti-trust statutes are only meant to satisfy a pernicious radicalism.

The attitude is comparable to the position of the average man toward the Volstead law, and this type of man feels no more consciousness of criminality in getting around the anti-trust statute than he does in getting around the Volstead law.

It is rather a frequent state of mind under the Coolidge administration. Attorney-General Sargent has somewhat the same viewpoint, not because of the environmental influence of a lot of millions, but because his legal history accounts for his attitude toward such accumulations. On the groundwork of his natural New England conservatism was grafted the experience of a railroad lawyer, for in his career the New Haven road reached out and added him to the legal corps in accordance with the habit of such organizations of gathering in whatever light might be cast on them.

Shrewd Political Lawyer. Sargent, despite his homespun appearance, has a shrewdness and a keenness of vision that make him a political lawyer as Vermont ever produced, and his successes were more frequently before the courts than in the halls of Congress.

President Coolidge chose him because he needed an Attorney-General who could be counted on to administer the Department of Justice as to sooth the nerves of the public that had been frazzled by the Daugherty adventure.

The short term of Stone had not been quite satisfactory. He quarreled with the politicians about the appointment of District Attorneys and Judges, and it was he who sought to inspect the testimony of the Senate Finance Committee Board and declared that the Mellon protects the interests of trusts and monopolies which have exploited the people through excessive tariff duties." King demanded the appointment of a select committee of five Senators to make an investigation.

King in his resolution named a number of products on which the President, under the flexible provisions of the tariff law, has increased the rates, and said that he had under advisement increases on sugar, cotton warp knit fabric, cotton gloves and wall pockets.

The resolution was read and allowed to lie on the table, whence King can call it up at his pleasure.

The Watchful Smoot. No one but King put in his resolution that his Republican colleague from Utah, Senator Smoot, known as one of the high priests of protection, exercising a special guardianship over the high sugar tariff, introduced a resolution of his own.

He, too, proposed an investigation of the working of the flexible section of the tariff law, but proposed that the investigation be made by the Senate Finance Committee. Smoot is the chairman of the Finance Committee. Smoot wanted a friendly investigation.

On the next day there was a sharp tilt in the Senate over the ion corporation had deliberately and consistently violated the provisions of the court order to discontinue its tactics in restraint of trade.

Since the development of a hypothetical or a real jealousy among the financial counselors of the administration, it has been recalled that the Attorney-General who thus stood against a Mellon corporation had been a Morgan attorney. That suggests an interesting analysis, but one hardly pertinent to the present issue. Stone was comfortably removed by promotion to the Supreme Court and John Garibaldi Sargent came in as the sedative influence.

Judge Sargent—all lawyers over 40 are courtesy Judges in New England—was fully in sympathy with the Mellon corporation, who has had the center of the stage.

It was Donovan who told the reporters, when inquiries began to be made about what had become of the processes inaugurated by Stone against the Mellon company, that there was no activity in the matter, a statement that may require explanation when the Senate investigation sought by Walsh of Montana gets down to the wire and whereof the midnight certificate of character to the Mellon Aluminum Co. of America issued when the New York World announced that the next morning it would begin the publication of the articles describing the remarkable favor involved in the Federal Trade Board's ruling that the testimony against the enterprise of the Secretary of the Department of Justice had been withheld from the Attorney-General, who was supposed to be investigating possible criminal phases in the case.

In that statement of absolutism it was given out that the Department of Justice had practically completed the investigation of the Aluminum Co. of America, the full report of which would be issued three weeks later.

It was long before Donovan had given the impression that nothing was under way. Moreover, the crux of the whole thing was that the department was not to have access to the records of the Federal Reserve Bank, which Sargent's predecessor had asked for as requisite to determine if the violations of the court order had continued.

Followed a Conference. That started followed by a conference in which President Coolidge, Attorney-General Sargent, Secretary of State Kellogg and Mellon had participated, but its authorship is attributed to Donovan, whom Sargent had just scheduled successor when the incumbent Attorney-General drops out.

There have been rumors that the relations between the President and the Secretary of the Treasury have not been as close as they were, and that Herbert Hoover rather than Mellon is now the chief adviser of the White House. The rivalry of plutocracies, already hinted at in the Mellon case, is now part of this, and the nearest to tangible evidence is the circumstance that the President overruled Mellon when the latter sought to inform received in Paris, settlement offer.

Whatever may be the truth of this, the fact remains that Mellon is too conspicuous a figure in the administration to be denied such help as the sudden announcement of the Department of Justice might give him.

French Minister Clinchant arrived in Paris this evening from Budapest to report on the matter direct to the French Government, bringing with him several of the fake notes.

The counterfeiters were shown to the correspondent, who was at first unable to tell them from the real thing. Then he noticed that the paper was slightly thicker, the coloring not so pale, and printing perfection lacking. It is easy to see, however, why the Hungarian reactionaries, who hoped to furnish the backers of the Hungarian revolt with funds were able to circulate them in parts of Europe where real 1000-franc notes were scarce.

It took the experienced money managers at Amsterdam to notice the difference. Clinchant told the Foreign Office chiefs that he did not consider the Hungarian Government responsible beyond leaving the police and officials of the ministry of Interior in office when their negligence was known.

Political Leaders Involved. It has not been explained how Windisch-Graetz obtained the counterfeiters from the Leningrad mint. It is not clear whether the counterfeiters were monarchist mine employees who were glad to leave Russia.

REGENT HORTHY SAID TO BE IN MONARCHIST PLOT

Investigators of Conspiracy to Put Albrecht on Hungarian Throne Found 100,000 Men Ready.

RUSSIAN EXPERTS MADE FAKE MONEY

Prince Windisch-Graetz Engaged Them to Go to Hungary and Counterfeit France.

By the Associated Press. BUDAPEST, Jan. 8.—More than 100,000 men are said by investigators to have been available for the coup d'etat which was to have placed Archduke Albrecht on the Hungarian throne.

Regulars of the National Army to the number of 37,000, controlled by Admiral Horthy, the regent, 25,000 police, gendarmes and customs officials and about 40,000 Fascist comprised the body.

It is claimed that Regent Horthy was fully in sympathy with the movement and willing to relinquish the regency in order that Albrecht might ascend the throne without hindrance.

The latest facts in the situation seem to tend to show that Prince Ludwig Windisch-Graetz, among the conspirators in the 30 billion French franc counterfeiting plot, did not act entirely from political motives.

It has been stated that the money obtained from floating the spurious notes was to have been used in furthering the ambitions of Archduke Albrecht to secure the crown of Hungary.

The semi-official Hungarian Telegraph Agency points out in this connection that those arrested for participation in the counterfeiting belong to different political parties and that this fact does not tend to bear out the charge that they were acting with political ends in view. Archduke Albrecht has issued a disclaimer, declaring that he has had no relations, direct or indirect, with Windisch-Graetz for several years.

Police have obtained, they claim, full admission from Ladislav Zoro, an employee of the Government Map Bureau, that the spurious notes were printed with the aid of dressmen Johann Virag, Ludwig Kiss and Ladislav Spurling and Mechanics Josef Hala and Franz Hargach, all of whom have been arrested. The printing press used at the bureau has been found at a junk store. This concern also purchased the metal from the plates from which the notes were struck. The plates had been melted down after the counterfeiters were through with them.

Russian Note Experts Hired for Counterfeiting

PARIS, Jan. 8.—Some of the counterfeiters of the 1000-franc notes in Hungary were specialists from the Russian mint, according to information received in Paris. Twenty-five of them were clandestinely engaged two years ago by Prince Windisch-Graetz.

These men were from Leningrad. They were fully instructed in turning out the counterfeit notes, and finally the Prince, using partly employees of the Russian mint and partly workers in other mints of Central Europe, obtained possible help in the sudden announcement of the Department of Justice turning out a product which at first glance passed easily for 1000-franc notes.

French Minister Clinchant arrived in Paris this evening from Budapest to report on the matter direct to the French Government, bringing with him several of the fake notes.

The counterfeiters were shown to the correspondent, who was at first unable to tell them from the real thing. I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Psychology of "The Miracle"

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I read with interest the article "The Miracle" in your issue of Jan. 7. It is a story of a woman who, after a long and arduous journey, finds herself in a strange land, where she is treated with kindness and hospitality. The story is a beautiful example of the power of human sympathy and the ability of the human mind to overcome adversity.

What happens to the sun, in short, is exactly what would happen. If that conclusion be sound, then the story is a real story. The fact that one might like to have something else happen to the sun has nothing to do with the case. The story is one of "consequences," exactly like "Lord Jim" or "Crime and Punishment." If it is not a psychological story, like the latter, it is just as thrilling and important.

Dr. Snider's Memory.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I might be appropriate to honor the memory of Dr. Denton J. Snider on Saturday, Jan. 9, 1926, as Snider died on Saturday, Jan. 9, 1926, at his home in St. Louis. He was a man of great ability and a devoted follower of the principles of the St. Louis Association of Universal Culture.

Automobile Accident Prevention.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
MANY accidents we read about are committed by people who have no regard for the pedestrian or possible accidents. When one drives an automobile, one should not forget that he has a dangerous machine in his care and his eye and mind must be concentrated on driving.

As a remedy I would suggest a special license office where only people answering the following qualifications may secure a license:

1. Be a moral, respectable person.
2. Have a physical examination as to eyesight, etc., and one as to mentality.
3. Person must have competent judgment.

After he receives his license and breaks any of the driving ordinances more than three times, he be deprived of driving a machine for six months.

A PEDESTRIAN.

The Jack Daniel Demonstration.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I READ with great interest the account of the magnificent reception St. Louis accorded to the departing convict thieves. I note the fact that these rich criminals were, from start to finish, treated entirely different from the ordinary poor criminals. They are allowed to wait several days for a special Pullman to convey their august personages in an unutilized condition to their destination. That they may not lack any of the privileges and pleasures to which a high grade violator of our Constitution is entitled, a diner is attached to the train. They step from this train directly into the arms of the waiting Warden who, presumably because of their mode of travel, intimates that they will receive the best, i.e., not exceptional treatment.

After reading all this I say "Bah! Send me a K. K. K. application blank."

CHRISTOPHER H. WALKER.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

The main points to be decided by a congressional investigation of the action of the Federal Trade Commission and of the Department of Justice with reference to the Aluminum Trust are whether protection has been given to the Aluminum Trust, and who is responsible for it. The Aluminum Company is a Mellon company. It is owned in large measure and is controlled by the Mellon family—the Secretary of the Treasury and his brother.

Both the Trade Commission and former Attorney-General Stone declared that the Aluminum Trust had violated the law.

The Trade Commission, which had charged the trust with guilt, now refuses to permit the Department of Justice to have access to the records of the evidence taken by the commission concerning the trust's conduct. The majority of three Republicans voted to close the records of the commission.

It should be borne in mind that this action of the commission was taken after the appointment of William E. Humphrey to the Trade Commission. It was charged by Senators Borah and Norris that the appointment of Humphrey had put the commission in a state of innocuous desuetude so far as its usefulness is concerned, and had made it rather a menace than an aid to public welfare.

Senator Borah said: "After a commission of this kind comes under the influence of factional politics and political pressure from the outside it can be of no possible service to the public." Senator Norris, accusing the Coolidge administration of packing the Federal Trade Commission and the Tariff Commission, and the Interstate Commerce Commission in the interest of Big Business, said: "Everybody knows that the majority of the Federal Trade Commission, able and honest though they may be personally and individually, are so imbued with reactionary sentiment and so partisan in their makeup that they would not see a wrong committed by a big trust or monopoly, even though it did appear as huge as high Olympus."

These utterances seem prophetic. In view of the action of the commission with regard to the Aluminum Trust, was the Federal Trade Commission packed to protect the Aluminum Trust, dominated by the Secretary of the Treasury and his family? Is this the first fruit of the packing of the commission with reactionaries and partisans, to protect big business in all its forms?

The Department of Justice, the night before the contemplated attack by the New York World on the Aluminum Trust, issued a white-washing statement, stating that the report of the department, not yet completed, would exonerate the Aluminum Company. This report had been made up without reference to the accumulation of evidence in the files of the Trade Commission, and no protest had been made against the closing of those files to the department.

It should be borne in mind that Mr. Stone, the Attorney-General who declared the Aluminum Trust guilty, has been displaced by Mr. Sargent, who rushed into print on an incomplete record, white-washing the trust.

What the public wants to know and ought to know is why the Department of Justice and the Trade Commission have switched from prosecution to defense of the Aluminum Trust—to suppressing evidence, and white-washing the trust?

What the public wants to know and ought to know is who is responsible for the protection of the Aluminum Trust and the Mellon family.

Is Mr. Mellon another Hamilton, running all the departments of Government? Mr. Coolidge was publicly accused of packing the Trade Commission. He displaced Attorney-General Stone and appointed Attorney-General Sargent. Mr. Sargent was in conference with him the night the white-washing statement was issued. These are disquieting circumstances, and ought by all means to be cleared up.

Who is responsible for the conduct of the Trade Commission and the Department of Justice?

THE SAGA OF MICHAEL SLATTERY.

When Michael Slattery of St. Louis died at the grand age of 87 he left behind a considerable estate. His value lies somewhere between $75,000 and $100,000. True to a life filled with generous acts, Slattery provided in his will that a large sum, amounting to nearly $40,000 should go to charity. There were bequests to various relatives, and the residue is left to the niece with whom he lived.

And who was Michael Slattery? Michael Slattery was a nobody. He came to this country from Ireland at the age of 14 as a poor immigrant boy. After 71 years he was still a nobody. By occupation he was a stonecutter, a trade he entered when he landed on these shores. He was undoubtedly a good stonecutter, but there is nothing to show that he was better than hundreds of other stonecutters.

From his meager earnings as a stonecutter, however, Michael Slattery bought city lots, first one, then from time to time, others. On these lots he built houses. Often he did much of the mason's work himself. He sold the houses for profit and then built others. There was one thing, however, which distinguished Slattery's real estate deals. His capital, eked out with the sweat of his toil with chisel and trowel, was never outpoured by his operations.

Michael Slattery was much the same kind of real estate operator as he was stonecutter. Just as he did not, say, become a glorified stonecutter or a sculptor, so he always remained a small and ordinary real estate dealer. He never took a flyer in his life. He never made a large profit. Neither did he ever suffer a large loss. You may say he had no imagination, no vision. That's undoubtedly true. Neither was Slattery a fool. He began life not only without the help of friends or family but also without great personal gifts. But the lesson his life teaches is that he took his commonplace gifts and did enormously well with them. His tools, remember, were not golden styluses, but dun chisels.

Hundreds of thousands of Michael Slatteries die every year in destitute circumstances, old, poor and broken. Slattery topped 87 still the master of his fate and the captain of his soul. He lived frugally, of course. He never owned an automobile. He never married—too bad he did not perpetuate his strong, flinty, determined breed. But as he traveled the long road, he stunted himself to be generous to others. Here and elsewhere are homes which were the gifts of Michael Slattery.

This article will not appeal to young men who pattern themselves after plunders and big operators. It has nothing to add to twentieth century ideas of masonry and real estate operation. Slattery was hopelessly old-fashioned in this day when most men make their fortunes with borrowed money—that is, most men who do make fortunes. Yet many a modern man could do worse than take Michael Slattery as a model of what can be achieved through the piling of penny upon penny. His fortune was a snug piece of masonry. It will benefit poor children and poor parents many years after Michael Slattery is forgotten.

OUSTING THE CAMEL.

An Arab proverb warns against permitting a camel to push his head into a tent, because it is next to impossible, in that case, to prevent him from getting his whole body in. Due to war hysteria, the prohibition camel got into the American tent. He has been well prodded since, especially by such able Americans as Representative John Philip Hill of Maryland, who defied Volsteadism by making wine, treating his neighbors, and getting a jury verdict in his favor.

It looks as if the decision of Attorney-General Sargent, in the Creed Isner case, not to appeal it to the Supreme Court was another step in the big task of ousting the prohibition camel. Creed Isner, a West Virginia farmer, having made some elderberry wine and stored it in his cellar, was charged with the possession of intoxicating liquor. Attorney-General Sargent has concluded that there is no doubt that a citizen may manufacture fruit juices of alcoholic content for use in the home, provided they are not intoxicating in fact. And the prohibition unit has decided that whether or not such wine or other fermented fruit juice is intoxicating must be left for juries to decide.

So it appears that if makers of home-made wine, cider or other merely fermented drinks will indulge in them at home and not make their joviality manifest, they will not be molested.

ALAS, POOR VIERECK!

George Sylvester Viereck's syndicated series of interviews with the former Kaiser has been stale reading. Except for the setting and the somewhat intimate glimpses of the family life at Doorn Mr. Viereck might quite as well have interviewed himself. In effect that is what he has done. The content of the dialogue is a rehash of Mr. Viereck's familiar aversions and hallucinations.

Of all the Viereck boggers the secret military alliance between the United States and England is the most preposterous. The statement first appeared in Roland G. Usher's book, "Pan-Germanism." How a man of Prof. Usher's attainments could have sponsored such a silly assertion was a mystery at the time, and still is. But he said it, and George Sylvester Viereck believed it and still believes it, and so does the ex-Kaiser, and that is about enough from these, so to speak, charming people.

It seems Prince Ludwig has owned up to the plot to flood Europe with counterfeit francs. That's what we call picking on a cripple.

PAUL AS A JOURNALIST.

Referring to Archbishop Ireland's famous statement: "If Saint Paul were alive today he would be a journalist," Pope Pius is quoted as saying: "It is doubtful if this is literally true, but unquestionably it would be true in spirit."

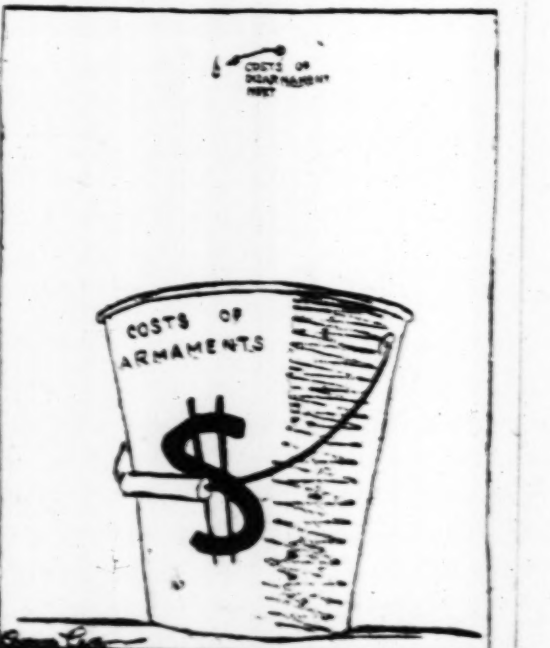

The idea is rather intriguing. That the great Apostle to the Gentiles had many of the qualities of a good journalist can be gleaned from his writings. He was bold and independent. Confronted by some whom he deemed "false brethren," he tells us his attitude as follows: "To whom we gave place by subjection, not for an hour." He had a world view, in contrast to the leaders of Christianity of his time. He taught that "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free; for all are one in Christ Jesus." He despised forms and technicalities, telling the Galatians: "Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years." He had a faculty for striking epigrams, as "A little leaven leaveneth the whole lump"; "God loveth a cheerful giver"; "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

His power of expression in oratory, as reported in the Acts of the Apostles, said to have been written by Luke, was so great that, after he had explained his faith to King Agrippa, having demanded trial as a Roman citizen, that pagan monarch was forced to exclaim: "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." And his great address to the Athenians, on Mars Hill, is a model for breadth of view and spiritual insight, containing that oft-quoted statement that "not one blood are made all nations to dwell on all the face of the earth."

Undoubtedly the author of the Acts of the Apostles got most of his facts regarding Paul, including the excellent report of his shipwreck in the twenty-seventh chapter, from Paul's own mouth. So that we may conclude that he was a good news correspondent as well as an able expounder of the greatest event of his time—the rise of that religion which now covers the civilized world.

PANETELA.

YES, Luella, Retrogression. In the Senate is a bluff. Looks as if Provincialism Could no longer Do its stuff. Anyway, The once pulsant Opposition Of the past Rallies for Another battle. Not improbably Its last.

Thus the dreaded Death Battalion, Once the grave Of human hopes, Faces the Despairing prospect Of itself Upon the ropes. Where it once Sent doves and angels Down to water In their gore, Lo, it sees The black day coming When its own head Hits the floor!

So it has been, Little girls, Since the distant Dawn of time. What has happened To reaction Always makes A merry rhyme. Tugboat as It baply may be, And triumphant For a spell, One is aware Sure of hearing At the last Its dying yell.

If it were, Not so, Luella, And had not Been so for aye, Whence had come The wide diffusion Of intelligence Today? Nor is it At all surprising, Since reaction In attack Always turns Its face to progress And gets taken In the back.

Anyway, The force is over And the curtain Is to fall. Leaving only Elmer Johnson, Or say Borah, In the hall. Thus do men For no good reason Both for truth And error bleed, Knowing not One from the other, Or in which way We proceed.

AT THE END OF HIS ROPE.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to register without bias the latest comment by leading publicists, newspapers and publicists on the questions of the day.

REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT

A Congressman in the Atlantic Monthly for January.

WHEN I was elected to Congress in the Ninth District of my State I found under an altogether erroneous impression of what constitutes representative government. I supposed that the people of my district, not having the time or the general knowledge to deal directly with the questions that might arise during the session of the National Legislature, had said to me to do some political thinking for them. Having the opportunity of listening to the debates and consulting with my colleagues, they are as the sands of the southern sea, of which my constituents were ignorant. I now see that this was a great mistake. The alarming increase of literacy, cheap printing and the radio have undermined the foundations of representative government. My constituents know more about what is going on in Washington than I do and lose no time in telling me so. While I am acting as a chore boy, they are making up my mind for me. They tell me how to vote on a bill which I have not had time to consider. I have no longer leisure to read or letters. I weigh them. You would not believe how many pounds of peremptory advice I receive every day. As for independent action, that is the province of the past. They have a curious way of confirming or another. Hundreds of my constituents will rush simultaneously to the office of the telegraph company and express themselves vehemently in exactly the same language.

THE RADIO INDUSTRY.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

THE growth of the radio industry is set forth in figures assembled by Herbert Frost of Chicago, president of the Radio Manufacturers' Association. He finds that the business today employs about 100,000 persons in 1,200 manufacturing plants and 40,000 mercantile establishments. Whereas five years ago the annual turnover was less than $4,000,000, today it exceeds $200,000,000. The rate of growth is said to be almost without precedent in American history. There are now 184 broadcasting stations, but that is only a small fraction of the number of applicants for the right to use the air. Those who thought in 1921 that the first crude apparatus would be a long time emerging from the laboratory, have revised their estimate in view of the sale of 2,500,000 radio sets and 25,000,000 tubes in 1924.

WALL STREET IN SMOCKS.

From the Brooklyn Citizen.

A WALL STREET firm which designs office force in smocks. The uniform is light blue with a rolling collar and open neck, and it is said that the girl clerks in this attire look "real cute." It is known that the idea will spread through the financial district. It is to be hoped that it will not. Uniforms may be admired, but here they should be discarded, unless they mean something like the navy and police uniforms. American boys, individually, and individually should be encouraged in dress as well as in education.

MEETING TO DISCUSS WELFARE OF CHILDREN

Miss Grace Abbott, U. S. Bureau Head, to Speak at Session in Coliseum Feb. 22.

The League of Women Voters will sponsor "Child Welfare Afternoon" Monday, Feb. 22, at the Woman's National Exposition in the Coliseum, with Miss Grace Abbott, director of the Child Welfare Bureau, Washington, D. C., as the chief speaker. Miss Abbott will speak on the proper care of children. Her talk will be broadcast from the Coliseum by radio.

Miss Abbott's address will be followed by a special child welfare exhibit at the exposition, including booths, motion pictures and literature on the subject, sent to St. Louis by the Government bureaus for that special occasion.

The public schools, LaSalle Gas Light Co., the Wednesday Club and the Home Economics Department, under direction of Dr. Louis Stanley, director of the Federal Home Economics Bureau at Washington, will have demonstrations of food, The Advertising Club will co-operate with the Better Business Bureau to demonstrate to women the proper buying for the home.

"Many people have been concerned with the exposition," said Mrs. Louis J. Brooks, executive chairman, yesterday, "thinking the movement sought to educate women away from home. On the contrary, the exposition movement seeks to do everything to keep women more contented with home life and to make its perpetuation and proper rearing of children take the important place in the scheme of things they should for women."

The St. Louis Children's Hospital will show women the sunshine cure for children as well as the Schick test for diphtheria. The Smoke Abatement League will show the effect of smoke upon child life.

"We hope all St. Louis organizations interested in child welfare and its proper development will come to hear Miss Abbott on that evening."

The exposition has on sale 100,000 advance tickets at headquarters in the Town Club Building at the rate of three for $1. The regular price after Feb. 9 will be 50 cents each. Any organization handling tickets will receive 10 per cent from collections of ticket money.

AUTHORS ELECT OFFICERS

Dr. Alexander de Meill Again Made President.

The Society of St. Louis Authors last night at the American Hotel re-elected as president Dr. Alexander de Meill, who had been absent from the chair for a year on account of family bereavement. Dr. Arthur E. Bonwick and Miss Temple Bailey were elected vice presidents, and Mrs. Adeline Palmer Wagner secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Edgar James Swift spoke on "Thinking as a Fine Art." The Rev. George R. Dodson related "Some Experiences of an American Unofficial Observer in Europe." Mrs. Temple Bailey read her latest Christmas story, "Among the Tranquil Animals." There were 68 members at the meeting.

CARTOONIST'S PAINTINGS SOLD

Sidney Smith Got $75 for Them From Hometown Club.

By the Associated Press. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 8.—Three paintings by Sidney Smith, cartoonist, were sold at auction when the club to which he belonged during his residence here, disbanded. Smith later was discovered by the club's officers, who have a curious way of confirming or another. Hundreds of my constituents will rush simultaneously to the office of the telegraph company and express themselves vehemently in exactly the same language.

Roman Rolland's New Play.

Consequences of the French Revolution.

FRANCO, Jan. 1.—Roman Rolland, the famous French writer, will celebrate his sixtieth birthday next month. The Czech National Theater has thus performed a grandiose gesture in producing his latest play, "A Play of Love and Death," on the eve of the event. Thrift's recently were made to have this play and "Tristan" produced officially in Paris, but apparently the French have not yet forgotten the author's war-time pacifist activities. Meanwhile, on this side of the Rhine, Rolland's fame grows. All his novels, essays and dramas are quickly translated into every language.

H. S. Sargel, Publisher, Dead.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Charles H. Sargel, 62 years old, former city treasurer and president of the Sanitary District, publisher and author, died unexpectedly at his home here yesterday from influenza. He had been connected with Chicago publishing houses for 45 years. Sargel was the treasurer during William Hale Thompson's first term as mayor. Later he was elected trustee of the Sanitary District, and also served as its president for some time. In 1925 he was appointed counsel for Peru here. He was born in Macomb, Ill.

Dr. Alexander de Menil Again Made President.

The Society of St. Louis Authors last night at the American Hotel re-elected as president Dr. Alexander de Menil, who had been absent from the chair for a year on account of family bereavement. Dr. Arthur E. Woodwick and Miss Temple Bailey were elected vice presidents and Mrs. Adeline Palmer Waggoner, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Edgar James Swift spoke on "Thinking as a Fine Art." The Rev. George R. Dodson related "Some Experiences of an American Unofficial Observer in Europe," and Miss Bailey read her longest Christmas story, "Among the Tenth Animals." There were 68 members at the meeting.

Sidney Smith Got $75 for Them From Homeown Club.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 8.—Three paintings by Sidney Smith, cartoonist, were sold at auction when the club to which he belonged during his residence here, disbanded. Smith later was diverted from the field of oil and water colors by the demand for his cartoons. The pictures were painted when Smith was 21 years old and the club voted him $75 for his services.

He worked in the basement of a shoe store to make frames for the paintings out of scraps of wood.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

PRAGUE, Jan. 1.—Roman Rolland, the famous French writer, will celebrate his sixtieth birthday next month. The Czech National Theater has thus performed a gracious gesture in producing his latest play, "A Play of Love and Death," on the eve of the event. Efforts recently were made to have this play and "Danton" produced officially in Paris, but apparently the French have not yet forgotten the author's wartime pacifist activities. Meanwhile, on this side of the Rhine Rolland's fame grows. All his novels, essays and dramas are quickly translated into every language.

PLAYWRIGHTS FORM UNION TO PROTECT MOVIE RIGHTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Leading American dramatists have descended on Broadway with an organization similar to the Actors' Equity. Yesterday 131 authors formed an association of dramatists based on closed shop lines to combat what they term an attempt of motion picture producers to corner the play market.

A report unanimously adopted calls for a boycott of any manager who deals with a dramatist outside the organization, or who fails to enter into an agreement with it. Among the signers of the report were some foreign writers with plays on the American stage, including Noel Coward, Michael Arlen and W. Somerset Maugham. A committee to draw up a standard form of contract was named, consisting of Rachel Crothers, John Emerson, James Forbes, George Kaufman, George Kelly, George Middleton, Channing Pollock, Otto Harbach, J. Bartley Manners, Lewis Clemens, Roy Cooper McGraw, Eugene O'Neill and Gene Buck.

The action of the playwrights was stimulated by reports that William Fox had offered to finance stage plays in return for motion picture rights, which was construed as an effort to corner the play market. The dramatists also charge that some managers have not given them their full share of profits from successful plays.

Funeral of Isaac Abram, Head Waiter at Tony Faust's

Neighbors Recall That Cafe Worker Helped Them Present Diners "In Waldorf-Astoria Style."

The funeral of Isaac Abram, head waiter at Tony Faust's for years and once owner of the place which recently closed as Caesar's Cafe, took place today from his home, 3027 Utah street. Mr. Abram, who was 52 years old, died Wednesday at the Jewish Hospital, following a stroke of paralysis. For five years he had been head waiter at Bevo Mill. For seven years he was assistant head waiter at Melshimer's cafe, which gave up to prohibition in 1924, and for several years he was in charge of the Delmar Garden cafe. Neighbors remembered him for helping them to present some of their dinners at home, one of them said today, "in Waldorf-Astoria style." Mr. Abram is survived by his widow, a son and a brother.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT.

A Congressman in the Atlantic Monthly for January.

WHEN I was elected to Congress from the Ninth District of my State I labored under an altogether erroneous notion of what constitutes representative government. I supposed that the people of my district, not having the time or the special knowledge to deal directly with the specific questions that might arise during the session of the National Legislature, had asked me to do some political thinking for them. Having the opportunity of listening to the debates and consulting with my colleagues, I could make decisions in regard to matters of which my constituents were ignorant. I now see that this was a great mistake. The alarming increase of literacy, cheap postage and the radio have undermined the old foundations of representative government. My constituents know more about what is going on in Washington than I do and they use no time in telling me so. While I am acting as a chorus boy, they are making up my mind for me. They tell me how to vote on a bill which I have not had time to consider. I have no longer leisure to read my letters. I weigh them. You would not believe how many pounds of peremptory advice I receive every day. As for telegrams, they are as the sands of the seashore, and they have a curious way of confirming one another. Hundreds of my constituents will rush simultaneously to the offices of the telegraph company and express themselves vehemently in exactly the same language.

THE RADIO INDUSTRY.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

THE growth of the radio industry is set forth in figures assembled by Herbert Frost of Chicago, president of the Radio Manufacturers' Association. He finds that the business today employs about 500,000 persons in 1200 manufacturing plants and 40,000 mercantile establishments. Whereas five years ago the annual turnover was less than $5,000,000, today it exceeds $500,000,000. The rate of growth is said to be almost without precedent in American history. There are now 584 broadcasting stations, but that is only a small fraction of the number of applicants for the right to use the air. Those who thought in 1920 that the first crude apparatus would be a long time emerging from the laboratory status to the daily usage of the household have revised their estimate in view of the sale of 3,000,000 radio sets and 20,000,000 tubes in 1924.

WALL STREET IN SMOCKS.

From the Brooklyn Citizen.

A WALL STREET firm which delights in inaugurating innovations has dressed its office force in smocks. The uniform is light blue, with a rolling collar and open neck, and it is said that the girl clerks in this attire look "real cute." It is hinted that this idea will spread through the financial district. It is to be hoped that it will not. Uniforms may be admired in Europe, but here they should be discouraged, unless they mean something like the army, navy and police uniforms. America loves individuality, and individuality should be encouraged in dress as well as in other things.

RESPONSE TO MOVE TO GET U. S. TO BUILD NEAR PLAZA

the building which occupied the site was wrecked.
Construction did not begin, however, and early in 1922 a proposal was made to the Government by downtown realty interests, that the Government should trade the old Federal building and its site, the block bounded by Olive, Locust, Eighth and Ninth streets, for two adjoining downtown office buildings, the Title Guaranty, at Seventh and Chestnut streets, and the Pontiac, behind it at Seventh and Market. The owners of the buildings proposed to pay the Government $500,000 in addition to deeds on the buildings.

The proposal was referred to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who vetoed it, declaring that the Olive street property was of much greater value than that offered in exchange, and that $3,000,000, rather than $500,000, should be offered to buy it. That disposed of the trade proposal. Construction was delayed until a new appropriation became necessary.

Congressman Dyer said, in the course of the discussion with the City Plan Commission in 1919, that it was difficult to get improvements for St. Louis, because of lack of agreement here upon what was wanted. He said it would be possible to adopt the City Plan Commission's suggestion of a Fourteenth street site, if such a site would not cost more than the Fourth street site would be sold for.

Appropriation for Renovation of Present Federal Building.
An appropriation of $25,000 for renovation of the Federal Building here and placing a ceiling at the fourth floor level over Judge Paris' third floor courtroom is included in the bill which carries provision for a new Federal Building. Closing off of Judge Paris' courtroom, which now extends up from the third to the fifth floor, not only would add fourth floor office space, but also is expected to improve the acoustics of the courtroom, which have been poor. An attempt to improve them by adding the walls was made in 1921. Renovation of the building, which was prepared for after the war, postponed, has been urged for years.

saw to work in a monarchist cause or whether they were communists who went to Hungary to work for monarchists doing so in the hope that the breakdown of European currency would be a step toward communism.

Windsch-Graetz, who is described in Budapest as a money lender and wastrel, is according to the information brought to Paris by Churchill, a serious psychotic who worked daily on the counterfeiting scheme. He succeeded to a certain extent in involving political leaders and members of important families in Hungary. From other sources of information it is learned that there is proof in Budapest that he planned to place the Archduke Albert on the throne.

Spanish Bank Notes Forged. Several Arrests Made.
By the Associated Press.

VALENCIA, Spain, Jan. 8.—Counterfeit bank notes of 10 and 20 pesetas denomination have been discovered here. The notes are of the latest issue of the Bank of Spain. Several arrests have been made. The forgers, it is asserted, have an organization with ramifications all over Spain.

Counterfeits Thought to Have Been Made in Medieval Castle.
By the Associated Press.

VALENCIA, Spain, Jan. 8.—Counterfeits of French 1000-franc notes by Hungarian irreconcilables, headed by Louis Windsch-Graetz, began eight months ago. How many false bills are scattered through Europe, principally over the frontiers into Czechoslovakia, Transylvania and Banat in Jugoslavia, the French police who are investigating are unable to determine.

The plant where the bills were made is supposed to be the medieval Saragorser Castle, the property of Windsch-Graetz, because about eight months ago he announced that he was about to open coal mines on his great estate and sent boxes of machinery there.

Remus thus far had managed to bribe barriers. But with his operations taking, bethought himself of obtaining protection. The thought was stimulated by his belief the ready to his hand.

In March of that year Mr. Harding, dent, and Harry M. Daugherty of Washington appointed Attorney-General in his Cabinet, Washington as head of the Department, followed by an individual named Jesse Smith. All that was known of Jesse that he was a "friend of the General."

Although he had no official position, the department next to the Attorney-General, to see Daugherty it was first necessary to body in the department knew that Smith's body knew upon what right he derived it.

The first witness before that committee was Remus. Smith, Smith's friend, but always friendly, wife. She testified that Smith had been a general "fixer" at the Department of Justice, collecting wholesale graft from persons who wished to receive favors from the Attorney-General. Many of these persons, she said, either were charged with violating Federal statutes or desired to violate them with assurance that they would not be prosecuted.

Subsequently, when the committee attempted to examine Daugherty's account at his brother's bank, at Washington Courthouse, it was halted by an injunction issued by a local judge. Remus' time was a prisoner at the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, serving the term to which he had been sentenced following his conviction in 1922. Attempt to Buy Nation-Wide Protection by Paying Over $250,000 to Friend of U. S. Attorney General

ADDITIONAL THOUSANDS PAID WHEN PERMITS WERE GRANTED FOR WITHDRAWALS OF WHISKY

$42,000 Handed Over for Just One Lot of 2000 Cases Taken Out of Warehouse—Payments Always in Cash, Usually in Thousand Dollar Bills—Remus' Testimony of Transactions With Daugherty's Friend.

PRECEDING installments have told how George Remus bought up distilleries, warehouses and whisky certificates in an ambition to corner the bonded whisky supply of the country; how he organized a string of bogus wholesale drug companies, and under permits obtained through fraud, bribery and forgery, withdrew and sold nearly one-seventh of the bonded whisky in the United States. The partnership with the cunning George Conners, the establishment of Death Valley Farm and three other great depots near Cincinnati, each with its squadron of rum-runners, the sanguinary battles with whisky pirates, and the corruption of Federal agents and city policemen have been described.

SIXTH INSTALLMENT.
RE MUS was never satisfied. Although his four great depots were fed by a constant stream of whisky from his numerous distilleries, although the roads were black with his trucks, although runners were carrying his liquor to a dozen states in the Middle West, he was not content, but must be ever expanding. Accordingly, he set up depots further East. One was in Buffalo, one in New York, and another in an Eastern city which he will not name. Whisky, ostensibly consigned under permits to his bogus drug companies in the East, was shipped to these depots, usually by rail. A few loads were sent up by truck.

He made an effort to establish a depot in Chicago, but it came to grief. He arranged with certain Chicago men to operate it, and shipped them a load of whisky. The car was seized and confiscated by law officers. The seizure may have been legitimate, but Remus believes that the men betrayed him, and arranged with the officers to "knock off" the carload. That belief was deepened by the fact that they refused to pay him for it.

Fake seizures, in which officials join criminals in a pirating coup, are well known in bootleggerdom as a favorite device for getting a shipment without paying for it. The liquor is divided between the officials who seize it and the bootleggers who ordered it.

Beginning of the Jesse Smith Alliance.

Remus thus far had managed to bribe his way past all official barriers. But with his operations taking on national magnitude, he bethought himself of obtaining protection of a national character. The thought was stimulated by his belief that there was an instrument ready to his hand.

In March of that year Mr. Harding had been inaugurated President, and Harry M. Daugherty of Washington Court House, O., was appointed Attorney-General in his Cabinet. When Daugherty came to Washington as head of the Department of Justice, he was shortly followed by an individual named Jesse Smith, also of Washington Court House. All that was known of Jesse Smith in Washington was that he was a "friend of the General"—Daugherty.

Although he had no official position, he was given an office in the department next to the Attorney-General's private office. Indeed, to see Daugherty it was first necessary to see Jesse Smith. Everybody in the department knew that Smith had authority, although nobody knew upon what right he derived it.

There was plenty of gossip around Washington about Smith, "the unofficial Attorney-General," and it soon became noised about that persons wanting favors from Attorney-General Daugherty would do well to see Smith. In fact, the two men lived in the same apartment at Wardman Park Inn, the capital's most fashionable residence hotel. The gossip and suspicion reached a stage bordering on scandal, and on May 30, 1923, Smith killed himself in the apartment.

It was not until 1924, however, when the Wheeler Senate Committee opened its investigation of Attorney-General Daugherty's official conduct, that Smith's connection with him was publicly aired.

His First Meetings

With the "Fixers."

The first witness before that committee was Roxie Simon, Smith's divorced but always friendly wife. She testified that Smith had been a general "fixer" at the Department of Justice, collecting wholesale graft from persons who wished to receive favors from the Attorney-General. Many of these persons, she said, either were charged with violating Federal statutes, or desired to violate them with assurance that they would not be prosecuted.

Subsequently, when the committee attempted to examine Daugherty's account at his brother's bank at Washington Court House, it was halted by an injunction issued by Federal Judge.

Remus at this time was a prisoner at the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, serving the term to which he had been sentenced following his conviction in 1922. Under a subpoena from the committee, he was taken from prison to Washington and questioned at length before the committee. His sworn testimony on that occasion as to his dealings with Jesse Smith was as follows. Certain irrelevant portions are omitted:

Senator Wheeler: Mr. Remus, you knew Jesse Smith in his lifetime? When did you first meet him?

Remus: In 1920 or 1921, in New York. My counsel, Mr. Eliza N. Zolne, introduced me to him.

Senator Wheeler: What was the occasion of your meeting him?

Remus: Well, from the viewpoint of obtaining withdrawals for drug companies, so as to obtain liquor from the bonded warehouses and distilleries that I owned, if you please.

Senator Wheeler: You met him at the Commodore Hotel?

Remus: Either at the Commodore or the Ansonia, but I won't be positive. I was working night and day at that time.

Senator Wheeler: When you met him you discussed this matter of getting withdrawal permits?

Remus: Yes, through the Central Drug Co., in New York, the Alps Drug Co., the S & P and a number of others.

Senate Investigators, Former U. S. Attorney-General and Influential Friend

Senator Wheeler: When Zolne introduced Smith to you, was he present during your conversation with Smith?

Remus: Only a little. Those conversations, you know, were usually between two parties, and the third party would gracefully withdraw.

Senator Wheeler: You had one meeting with him at the Plaza Hotel in New York, didn't you?

Remus: I met him at the Plaza in New York, the Washington in Washington, the Claypool in Indianapolis, the Desher in Columbus, and other hotels in New York.

Senator Wheeler: When you met him in New York what did he say to you with reference to being able to get these permits for you?

Remus: He had heard of me as being a reasonably large operator from the viewpoint of the whisky industry. Of course that was pursuant to that meeting; it was so understood.

Senator Wheeler: That was the reason he met you?

Remus: Yes; absolutely.

Was Promised There

Would Be No Convictions.

Senator Wheeler: You had no other reason for meeting Jesse Smith?

Remus: Other than to do what he could from the viewpoint of legal entanglements.

Throughout this testimony the reader will observe numerous examples of Remus' oddly stilted and high-flown form of speech. The foregoing is perfectly characteristic of it.

Senator Wheeler: So you wanted him to hold you harmless in the event of prosecutions or anything of that kind. That's correct, isn't it?

Remus: Yes; that is, in addition to the other alignments that a person had.

Senator Wheeler: You mean in addition to getting the permits?

Remus: Yes.

Senator Wheeler: What was told to you about Jesse Smith's connections? Did you know that he was close to Mr. Daugherty, or did you know that he was close to anybody else? What was told you about it?

Remus: Well, having practiced criminal law, I knew these matters. That was a matter of public knowledge. I thought.

Senator Wheeler: What was a matter of public knowledge — his connection with Mr. Daugherty?

Remus: Well, he was pretty close to the Attorney-General.

Senator Wheeler: What did he say about these permits?

Remus: Well, he said that for a consideration he would obtain permits if I would pay him so much per case. And I agreed to give him so much a case for his efforts in the premises.

Senator Wheeler: What did he say with reference to you being indicted or prosecuted in these matters?

Remus: That there would never be any conviction—maybe a prosecution, but no ultimate conviction.

Remus: Within a matter of $50,000, I should say. Because we make a little pencil note on the check, "J. S." for our own information, don't you know?

Senator Wheeler: Yes, I never sent it by anybody.

Senator Wheeler: At what other hotels did you pay him money?

Remus: I said at the Deshler, in Columbus.

Senator Wheeler: How many times did you meet him there and pay him money?

Remus: In my judgment, three or four times.

Senator Wheeler: And where else?

Remus: At the Elston Hotel, in Cincinnati, and the Washington Hotel, Washington, D. C.

Senator Brookhart: Do you remember the amount you paid him at the Washington Hotel, and what it was for?

Remus: I would rather not answer that at this time. The withdrawals were coming through, the whiskey was being delivered, we collected, and pursuant to the gentleman's agreement, he had so much money coming.

Senator Brookhart: You would meet him and split up with him at different times?

Remus: Right.

Senator Wheeler: What because of this whiskey that was withdrawn for medicinal purposes? What was its destination?

Remus: I don't know of my personal knowledge—Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Cleveland.

Senator Brookhart: Bootleggers got it all.

Remus: That is my contention. Senator. Every person that has one ounce of whiskey in his possession is a bootlegger—whether it be an ounce or 100,000,000 ounces.

Senator Moses: Did you pay Smith money every time you met him?

Remus: That was the purpose of our meeting, largely.

Senator Wheeler: That was the only business you had with him?

Remus: Yes, and to see that the business went on all right.

Senator Wheeler: Did you ever discuss anything with him in reference to your indictment?

Remus: Yes, that the Department of Justice would put up a vigorous battle, but ultimately I would never see the penitentiary. I am sorry to say that was not true, Senator.

Wouldn't Go to Prison, Smith Promised Remus.

Senator Wheeler: But that is what he told you?

Remus: Yes.

Senator Wheeler: What did he say about that?

Remus: Well, while there might be a conviction before a jury, the matter would go to the Court of Appeals and would be reversed.

And, as a lawyer, I thought it would be reversed.

Senator Wheeler: Let's not enter into an argument on the law phases of the case. You were not paying Jess Smith for legal advice. Did Jess Smith say to you that it made no difference if the Court of Appeals did affirm your case, that he could get you out of it?

Remus: Right.

Senator Wheeler: When did he say that?

Remus: A short time after my conviction, in May, 1922.

Senator Wheeler: He told you that even after your conviction?

Remus: Oh, absolutely.

Senator Wheeler: Where was that conversation?

Remus: In the Washington Hotel.

Senator Wheeler: Did you pay him any money at that time?

Remus: Yes, I paid him some money.

Senator Wheeler: How much?

Remus: I wouldn't say as to that particular time, but I paid him $25,000 or $28,000 during that period.

Senator Brookhart: You kept right on settling with him after conviction the same as before?

Remus: Right.

Senator Jones: Just exactly what did he say about that?

Remus: He said that while the case would be vigorously prosecuted, before any mittimus would come out of the court to the Marshall that either a commutation would be entered, or there would be a reversal.

Senator Brookhart: Now, the way he would get this suspension of sentence, or whatever it was, would be through his influence with the Attorney-General.

Remus: Yes.

Senator Moses: Did he say that?

Remus: Oh, absolutely. He said he was assured that ultimately there would be no sending away of Remus and his men to the penitentiary.

Senator Wheeler: And who did he say assured him of that?

Remus: The General.

Senator Jones: Tell us exactly what you said to him.

Remus: I said him—"Not one of the boys have taken the witness stand in the case of the United States versus Remus. I was absolutely assured that there would be no conviction."

Senator Jones: Who had assured you?

Remus: He had. I told him that if I had taken the witness stand in my case I could have thrown out at least eight or nine of the boys that now stand convicted. These characters, on the other hand, who posted the money in the bank, knew nothing of the criminal facts. I was the financier, the lawyer and the owner of the institution.

Knowing that these permits had been legally and properly issued from the prohibition offices, those men carried the liquor as it was sent from the bonded warehouses to the drugstore or the railroad station. Under those circumstances those men would have been found not guilty if I had taken the witness stand.

Senator Brookhart: And if you had not been assured that there would be no conviction, you would have taken the witness stand and taken the blame yourself, to clear those men who were morally innocent of it?

Remus: Absolutely, yes, Senator.

Senator Wheeler: Now did he tell you that if the Supreme Court affirmed that decision you would still be granted a pardon, and that you would never have to serve a day in jail?

Remus: Yes, he said that. He said a commutation would be entered.

Senator Jones: Did you ask him what he based that statement?

Remus: Yes, on account of his friendship with the General.

Senator Wheeler: When was the last time you paid him money?

Remus: A short time prior to the Court of Appeals' decision.

Baby's face and back covered with eczema
Resinol stopped itching quickly and healed blisters

Salem, Va., Feb. 5.—"I am writing to tell you of the wonderful benefit Resinol has been to my baby who had a bad case of eczema. The skin on her face and back was very red at first, and in a few days broke out in little blisters. The itching was awful and made the child very cross. I tried one preparation that had been highly recommended, but it did her no good. I then bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap and the itching stopped after the first treatment. In a few days the redness was gone and in a very short time the cure was complete. I shall always keep Resinol in my home." (Signed) Mrs. L. J. Carter, 165 Union St.

Resinol stopped itching quickly and healed blisters

Salem, Va., Feb. 5:—"I am writing to tell you of the wonderful benefit Resinol has been to my baby who had a bad case of eczema. The skin on her face and back was very red at first, and in a few days broke out in little blisters. The itching was awful and made the child very cross. I tried one preparation that had been highly recommended, but it did her no good. I then bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap and the itching stopped after the first treatment. In a few days the red look was gone and in a very short time the cure was complete. I shall always keep Resinol
in my home!" (Signed) Mrs.
L. J. Carter, 165 Union St.

HOW REMUS TRIED TO BUY NATION-WIDE PROTECTION FOR HIMSELF

Senator Wheeler: You know when he died, didn't you?

Remus: In 1925.

Senator Jones: I wish you could go back and tell me what Jess Smith said he could do to have your case reversed. What were you paying him for?

Remus: To use whatever influence he had with the General to keep me and the boys out of the penitentiary. I said: "The conviction is there. We are likely to go if the Court of Appeals don't reverse the case. What assistance will you give?" He said: "Well, there is no likelihood of your going at any time—you or any of your men."

Senator Jones: Didn't you wonder what he could do?

Remus: Why, he could have the Department of Justice recommend a commutation of sentence.

Senator Jones: Did you ask him to do that?

Remus: Yes, sir, of course I did.

Senator Jones: Did he ever tell you that he had asked the Attorney-General to recommend a commutation in your case?

Remus: There was no occasion yet, because our case was still pending in the Court of Appeals.

Senator Jones: It was finally settled in the Supreme Court.

Remus: Yes, but Jesse Smith was dead then.

Following this testimony, which was given on May 16, 1924, Remus was taken back to prison. Several weeks later it was announced at the penitentiary that he had repudiated all that portion of his testimony affecting Attorney-General Daugherty. Still later, Remus made another statement, repudiating his repudiation, and declaring that his former statement had been made under pressure, and that every word of his testimony had been the truth. That is his position now.

His explanation of how he came to deny his testimony will be given in detail later. It involves the name of a man who was later denounced by another Senate committee as having been at the bottom of the effort to "smear" Senator Wheeler, in retaliation for Wheeler's attacks on Daugherty.

In tomorrow's installment we resume the detailed narrative of Remus' operations, with further lurid episodes from the history of Death Valley Farm and the daring escapes of the run-runners.

Says Vest Stopped 1993 Bullets.
NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Alvar Jacobson, manager of a Brooklyn factory producing a bullet-proof vest, claims the distinction of having stopped 1993 bullets with his body during 1925. He acted as a demonstrator for his firm's product.

SOVIET ENVOYS TO DRESS UP

Moscow Orders the Wearing of Silk Hats and Evening Clothes.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Jan. 8.—The Russian Embassy here has received a copy of a circular letter issued at Soviet headquarters in Moscow admonishing all of the Soviet's diplomatic representatives abroad to devote more attention to their general personal appearance, and show less untidiness in their dress. The representatives are instructed to adapt themselves to the customs of the country in which they are stationed and says that they should make it a point to wear silk hats and dress suits in the evening.

The circular announces that the Russian Commissariat is about to design a special uniform for the diplomatic representatives of the Soviet republic. "Those of the diplomats who are honorary members of the Red Army are informed that they are entitled to wear their uniforms on all official occasions,"

Amundsen-Ellsworth Flight Plans.
By the Associated Press.
OSLO, Norway, Jan. 8.—Lincoln
Ellsworth is to be an equal partner with Roald Amundsen in the Polar expedition announced to take place in the spring in the dirigible Norge, the Norwegian Aero Club states. The expedition will be called the Amundsen-Ellsworth flight met with disaster.

Trans-Polar Flight, 1926, and its record is to be written by the two dealers in co-operation. The Norwegian Aero Club is to have charge of the administrative management of the expedition, which will take place under Norwegian colors in the same way as last year, when the Amundsen and Ellsworth flight met with disaster.

The Greatest Superpower in the West - - Now Centered in St. Louis

President Coolidge
 in his message opening Congress said:

"Along with the development of navigation should go every possible encouragement for the development of our water power. . . . This is more and more becoming an era of electricity. . . . Every facility should be extended for the connection of the various units into a superpower plant."

—This is exactly what Union Electric is doing

The Missouri Public Service Commission has just authorized Union Electric Light and Power Company to buy the great hydro-electric plant at Keokuk, Ia.

Cahokia, the largest steam plant between the Mississippi River and the Pacific Coast, and Keokuk, the greatest water power development in the Middle West, are now linked electrically and financially and form a superpower system that will help to keep electric rates in St. Louis where they are now—among the very lowest of the large cities of the United States.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY FLOOD IN MEXICO

Villages in State of Nayarit Reported Destroyed—Crop Loss in Durango.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Special dispatches to the Los Angeles Times says that devastating floods are sweeping the Santiago-Ixcuintla district, State of Nayarit, Mexico.

Some villages are reported to have been almost destroyed. Rail communications have been cut. The dispatches also say messages from Durango report that crops have been destroyed and that many miles of countryside are under water as the result of three days' rains. Rivers have reached a height of some five feet above normal levels.

Flood Situation in Paris Suburbs Becomes More Grave.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 8.—The River Seine continues to rise. Workmen are making cement and sand-bag barriers at all vulnerable points along the quays. These, however, cannot prevent flooding by infiltration of places in the city at a lower level than the water. The outlook consequently is regarded with anxiety.

The situation in the suburbs is growing graver. While the water mark is well below previous record levels, the damage undoubtedly will be far greater than that of previous floods for thousands of houses have been built on the river since 1910, most of them after the war when the housing problem became acute. Most of the houses are of a flimsy construction.

Some of the rivers in the provinces again are rising, notably the Saone in the vicinity of Lyons. Generally, however, the situation shows improvement.

In Belgium flood conditions in the north, notably in the Escaut Valley, are bad as ever. In the rest of the flooded area conditions are slowly returning to normal. King Albert and Queen Elizabeth yesterday visited some of the affected districts.

Last night the Seine at the Austerlitz Bridge showed a gauge of 20 feet. This was seven feet lower than the record height of 1910.

Dike in Holland Reported to Have Burst.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 8.—A dike on the Yssel River is said to have burst today, allowing the water to rush over Oldbroek and threatening several villages.

ST. LOUIS BUS CO. SEEKS

PERMIT FOR NEW LINE

Route Proposed: Is East From Kingshighway on Natural Bridge, North of Marcus.

An application of the St. Louis Bus Co., subsidiary of the United States Lines, for the operation of a motor bus line east on Natural Bridge avenue from Kingshighway, was received by the Board of Public Service today and referred to the department of streets and sewers for an investigation of the transportation needs in the area to be served.

The proposed line would run east on Natural Bridge to Marcus avenue, north to Kingshighway North, east to West Foreman avenue and to Taylor avenue. Thus it would connect with the Natural Bridge, Marcus, Taylor and Bellefontaine lines. A 15-minute schedule would be observed, and the buses would be fitted with pneumatic tires.

Director of Public Utilities Hall said he did not favor more buses in the area, described as he believed it was not heavily enough populated to require the service.

RENT OF REPUBLIC BLDG. LOT

An inventory of the estate of Theodore Benoit, died yesterday in Probate Court, discloses that the annual rental of ground on which the Republic Building is located at the southwest corner of seventh and olive streets is only $7500. Mr. Benoit died Nov. 10, 1925, at his home, 4822 Pershing avenue.

The lease for the property, the only item listed in the inventory, was executed in 1889 for a period of 99 years. Title to the Republic Building and the lease on the property was recently acquired by M. K. Singleton, president of the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., for a consideration of approximately $450,000.

Mr. Benoit left his estate to his widow, Mrs. Mary Benoit, and at her death the property is to be divided among their surviving children or heirs.

INQUIRY OF BELLEFONTAINE

FARMS TO BEGIN TONIGHT

Investigation of the charges of alleged mistreatment of juvenile delinquents at Bellefontaine Farms will be begun at a meeting of the Board of Children's Guardians in the board rooms at 7 o'clock tonight. It was announced today by Irvin Bettman, chairman of the board.

Circuit Judge Hartmann, who last week wrote the board a letter describing the reports of mistreatment, has been asked to be present. Bettman said, and the charges will be gone into thoroughly. The findings of the board will be made public as soon as the investigation is completed. It has been announced.

GOOSE STEP WITH COMFORT

German Apply Tar to Fowl's Feet on March to Market.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Jan. 8.—Holiday goose driven many miles from Poland to markets on the German frontier, are shod with a tar preparation in order to stand the strain of the long walks. The tar sticks to the feet and prevents bruising.

What roast turkey is to the Anglo-Saxon dinner, roast goose is to the Germans. A goose in the hands of a German housewife is utilized as completely as the pig in an American slaughter house. The fat and even the entrails are used in making "drippings," a delicacy which takes the place of butter on the family table.

$800,000 BOND SET FOR CHICAGO GUNMAN

Hard-Boiled Judge From Duquoin, Ill., Sets Record in City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—A hard-boiled country Judge gave the Chicago underworld something to think about yesterday.

Judge Lewis P. Harris, called in from Duquoin, Ill., to help Chicago in its attempt to hold the line against criminals, is sitting temporarily in the Night Court. Two gangsters were before him on charges of robbery and murder. The Judge held the pair on bonds of $800,000 and $600,000.

Judge John P. Lyle, who recently was removed from the Clark Street Court, had previously held the high record for bail bonds here. For almost a year he has been holding all robbery defendants on bonds of from $10,000 to $100,000. Those who were frequently scaled down by other Judges.

The men haled before Judge Harris were Edward Brennan and John Murphy. Eighty witnesses testified to 12 robberies and one murder. Brennan was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder, and his bonds were fixed at $800,000 on 12 charges of robbery. Murphy, who was held in 14 robbery charges, was put under bonds of $600,000. Another defendant.

U. R. TO LET CITY FIX TERMS OF MILL TAX SETTLEMENT

Whether Claim Is Secured or Unsecured Will Not Be Questioned, Attorney States.
Commenting upon City Counselor Muench's announcement yesterday that the Reorganization Committee of the United Railways has confessed the finality of the mill tax judgment held by the city, Stanley Clarke, attorney for the Reorganization Committee, today said:

"This obligation, which with accrued interest amounts to somewhat over $3,000,000, represents the entire amount of unpaid mill tax which had accrued prior to the date of its rendition, to wit, 1919, and the mill tax which has accrued since that time has been paid to the city currently. During the period in which the unpaid mill tax accrued, the company did not pay any dividends whatsoever to its stockholders."

"Whether or not the mill tax claim of the City of St. Louis ranks as an secured claim or an unsecured claim is a question which the Reorganization Committee does not propose to litigate, because of the fact that it believes the City of St. Louis should determine the manner and amount which should be paid in settlement of this claim and in making such determination that the city should bear in mind the fact that the company has not now funds in its hands and that the primary requisite with respect to additional funds which may be raised by the new company is that they should be devoted to furnishing the increased and better service which the city demands."

Chicago Dentists to Go to Court.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Chicago dentists are to spend $3000 to prosecute alleged illegal practitioners. Dr. Frank J. Bernard, chairman of the Chicago Dental Society committee in charge of investigations, says many dental laboratories are employing girls to lance abscesses, clean teeth, give treatments and perform other duties, which, he says, are assigned by law only to a licensed dentist.

Fine Old Bas-Rhelle Potend.

By the Associated Press.
NEUCHÂTEL, France, Jan. 8.—A fine bas-relief, measuring 16 by 11 inches, has been found at Meunil Follemprais, a village near Neuchâtel. The discovery was made by workmen who pulled down a brick fireplace in an old house they were demolishing. It is a very fine specimen of work of the middle ages and represents the flagellation of Christ.

JUSTICE DELAYED BY ODOR

FROM CORN-POPPING MACHINE

Judge Clark Complains of Yender's Operations Under Stairs Leading to Courtroom.

Under the Justice of the Peace court at 14 South Sixth street there are the stairs. Under the stairs there is a popcorn machine. The Justice of the Peace court is that of Judge Crittenden Clark. The popcorn machine is run by the Gem Theater, 16 South Sixth street. The stairs, leading to the court, run through one side of the lobby of the theater.

Monday morning when Judge Clark convened court, the crowded room, he says, was permeated with a sickening odor from the popcorn machine. He continued some of the cases. Tuesday the same odor seeped in. The entire docket was continued. Wednesday the same. Nearly 100 cases were virtually smothered out of court, the Judge maintaining.

Harold Nelson, assistant manager of the theater, investigated. "I went upstairs," he told a reporter, "and all I could smell was the perfume of the popping corn. No smoke at all."

The manager of the theater stated that if the machine was annoying the occupants of the building it would be removed.

5-AND-10-CENT STORE MANIA

Husband's Shopping Spree Wins Woman a Divorce.

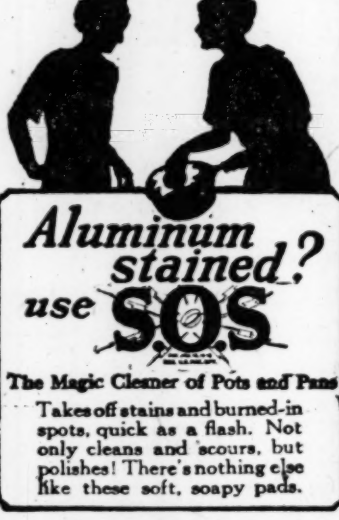

By the Associated Press.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 8.—A husband's mania for spending his pay in 5-and-10-cent stores was considered as sufficient grounds for divorce. Seven dollars a week alimony went with the decree.

Mrs. Frank T. Hullings alleged yesterday that her husband immediately upon receipt of his pay went on regular 5-and-10-cent store sprees, buying all the knick-knacks in sight. Once inside the store, she said, he would not leave until his money was exhausted. Vice Chancellor Leaning, in granting the decree, said that Hullings' failure to make a bona fide effort to provide a home for his wife placed him in the light of a deserter.

Favors Use of Corn Sugar.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The farmers of the corn belt, struggling for an outlet for their surplus, have found a new champion in Senator Edwards (Dem.) of New Jersey. Casting his vote in committee yesterday for a bill to remove restrictions from the use of corn sugar, Edwards said he only was sorry the bill did not further help the farmers by including corn syrup and corn whiskey.

WASHINGTON OPENS VALLEY BASKET SEASON AGAINST SOONERS TONIGHT

Oklahoma Will Send a Veteran Five Into Game

Coach McDermott Has Six Letter Men Back—McBride Star of Quintet.

Probable Lineups For Today's Game

The probable starting lineups for the game between Washington and Oklahoma are as follows:

Washington: Pos. Oklahoma. Stanford...Forward...McBride...Forward...Honea...Center...Halter...Guard...Halter...Guard...Dunlap...Guard.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NORMAN, Ok., Jan. 8.—The Missouri Valley basketball season will be officially opened here tonight, when the Washington University Bears oppose Oklahoma U. The Washington squad, under Coach Don White, arrived here last night ready for the contest. Coach White, while not predicting victory, figures his quintet is stronger than the aggregation he chaperoned a year ago.

The game here is the first of three to be played by the Bears on the present trip. From here, Washington goes to Stillwater to face the Oklahoma Aggies, while Kansas will be played at Lawrence, next Monday.

After a training grind of more than a month, Coach Hugh H. McDermott asserts the Sooners are ready. Refusing to be overconfident, he says the result of the victory in the game of Texas with the Sooners defeated T. C. U. 29 to 9, and Dallas Athletic Club, 51 to 15. McDermott said his men had this week.

While the little Scotch coach refuses to venture any prediction over the outcome of the Sooners' entry in the Valley Conference race, local fans are especially encouraged by the improved defense displayed by Oklahoma in the Texas game.

Six Letter Men Back.

Six letter men form the nucleus of McDermott's squad this year. They are McBride, Honea, Dunlap, Halter and Moore. McBride, who placed on the All-Conference five years ago, but dropped to mediocrity last year, apparently has regained his stride. Honea and West made letters as reserves last year, and one of them, probably Honea, will get the call as McDermott's starting point guard.

Halter and Curt Dunlap, who is playing his third year, will probably start against the Sooners. Two new men, Holt and Price, are putting up a fight for the center berth and the position seems well taken care of. Price is a better floor worker, and has a little edge in experience, since he played in a few games last year. Holt is 6 feet 4 inches tall.

Nitblack, also a sophomore, is another six-footer, who started the season for center, but he has been shifted to guard because of his speedy floor work. Three lettermen, Ray and Roy Leconte, and Norris, together with Stephens, who is playing his first year on the squad, complete the list of first-string candidates.

Aggies Own Veterans.

STILLWATER, Ok., Jan. 8.—The Oklahoma Aggies will launch their attempt at honors in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race, when Missouri invades Aggie land tonight, to be followed tomorrow by Washington University.

Any feeling of confidence the Maulehatch men have been caused by the return of "Bucky" Elder, who is the Aggie's 1931 Southwest Conference championship machine. The performance of Clifford Elder, at the other forward, has removed any doubt about the Aggie's ability to win the championship. Elder was an alternate last season.

Cent. Clyde Hall, at center, has shown signs of a quick return to his last year's form. He is the tallest man on the team, standing at 6 feet 10 inches.

George Connor, third-year guard and All-Southwest Conference choice last season, has played again in his old-time aggressive style. The fifth man of the starting combination tonight will be Ray Danforth, former Oklahoma State Conference star. He takes the place of Jim Lookabaugh, lost by graduation.

These five are backed by a dozen or more experienced alternates.

Maplewood Meets Bend.

Maplewood and Bend (It.) High School teams are scheduled to play a preliminary game to the Coliseum A. C. Chicago V. M. C. A. Inter-city contest at Trans-Siberian tomorrow night.

My 30 Years in FOOTBALL

By FIELING H. YOST

My last chapter I expressed the opinion that Western football will dominate during the next 10 years as once the East did in the hey-day of "The Big Three."

Coach of the East last fall behind, Notre Dame beat Stanford in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena a year ago. On New Year's day, but Notre Dame is not an Eastern team. About five years ago Harvard won one of these games by the score of 7 to 6, and that just about represents the total of the East's success on the Pacific Coast.

Of course, the argument will be made that the change in climate affects Eastern teams. The point is well taken. On the other hand, the climate did not deter Notre Dame nor did it deter my 1931 team which, after going through a schedule of 10 games, went to Pasadena for the first Tournament of Roses game ever played, and beat Stanford, 43 to 0.

The main inference to be drawn by the undisciplined Easterners is that the Middle West is really playing first-rate football. And, as the records show in the last five years, the quality of that football is constantly improving.

Opposed to Games.

Personally, I am against these excursions to the Coast. I am against all post-season games, for the reason that they place undue importance on the result and defeat the real educational purpose of the game. For football, after all, is nothing but a game, and merely an incident in the general scheme of college life. Extrapolation in the form of post-season intercollegiate games do no good.

And so I do not attach any special significance to them. The records of these games simply show that some Western teams have defeated some Eastern teams but that does not mean that Western football is better, as a whole, than Eastern football, or that Western coaches and players are better than Eastern coaches and players.

The point is, in a very fine analysis, there is no such thing as intercollegiate football, for on the California, for example, road and coaches who learned their football in the East, and in the Middle West and East a somewhat similar situation.

Hugo Benek, the Penn State coach, who has been at Chicago under Alonzo Stagg, a Yale man. In other words, football has

Records Enhance Showing of Two Cardinal Hurlers

Brooklyn, Chicago and Philadelphia Easy for Sherdel and Reinhart.

By Herman Wecke.

Bill Sherdel and Art Reinhart, the two star left-handers of the Cardinals, gain additional honors, according to National League records released today showing how the various twirlers fared against other clubs in the circuit. Sherdel was the leader in games won and lost, while his teammate ranked third, only Dazzy Vance excelling him.

Sherdel, in putting over 15 victories, against six defeats, was credited with only one conquest in which he was replaced, while, in his half-dozen reverses, three were by the Cardinals. The Cardinals' dominance in the past has been due to its superior organization of coaching rather than to any definite superiority of players. And as I say the situation, if anything, is reversed.

The coaches who are most successful in the West today are the ones who approached the modern game as crusaders. The impulse of the pioneers was in them and this reflected itself in the kind of football the West played. We took chances. We allowed our men to take chances. But the East remained conservative. The forward pass was frowned upon. As a matter of fact, it is incredible though it may seem—still frowned upon by some Eastern men. And others on even further. They exhibit a downright hostility to this most modern of the game's weapons.

East Is Retarded.

This influence has retarded the East while the West has come forward. By the same token, Eastern players have not exhibited themselves with the same brilliance as Western players. (And by West I do not mean only the Middle West, I mean the Missouri Valley as well as the Pacific Coast.)

I am not against intercollegiate games when they will not defeat the very purpose of the game—that is, when they can be played in the regular season. But I am against the scholastic standing of my players. When this can be done I shall encourage an intercollegiate game or two as part of the Michigan schedule, and that is why we have entered upon a home and home arrangement with the Navy.

The Navy, by the way, has a one-year reserve rule and a three-year limit. The Army hasn't, and this is a shame. Players who have graduated from other colleges after four years of football experience can go to West Point and keep on playing. This is hardly fair to those teams on the Army schedule that observe the modern residence

Cardinals Not Fast Enough for Home Duty—Run Too Easily

Unless some cloth manufacturer or dyer comes to their rescue, those brilliant red birds which have adorned the uniforms of the Cardinals for several years will be discarded for 1932. The birds will continue to strut on the black and white uniforms, but they are not fast enough, and they are too fast, and they are too easily run down.

Sam Breason announced yesterday that unless some cloth manufacturer or dyer comes to their rescue, those brilliant red birds which have adorned the uniforms of the Cardinals for several years will be discarded for 1932. The birds will continue to strut on the black and white uniforms, but they are not fast enough, and they are too fast, and they are too easily run down.

The Cardinals' uniforms probably will be white with no lettering across the shirt fronts, the only insignia being on the sleeve. This will be in red, to preserve a bit of Cardinal color.

No, we're not kidding ourselves. At Forest Park, Sunday afternoon two veteran athletes, John C. Meyers and Dr. H. Teppen, will compete in a skating race, although both are past the 65-year-old limit.

Charles Peterson not long ago inaugurated a billiard tournament which he termed the "Perpetual Youth Tourney" to which no player under 70 was eligible.
No fewer than 21 players competed in this event. And some of them played surprisingly.

"Young" Dan O'Leary, who is now well into his eighties, still does excellent stunts indoors and out that would chill the arrior of many a youngster just starting out after winning honors. Up to two or three years ago, being then past 80, Dan walked 100 miles on each of his birthdays, just to keep his hand in.

Middle-Age Ballplayers Shine.
THE baseball world also lends encouragement to those who fear that middle years will find them forced aside by the march of time. More and more age is holding its own on the diamond,
as Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and many others can testify.

The slope downward after one passes the peak today, is not nearly so steep, nor is the heap of disorders so high as that which once terrified the athletic world.

Coach Andy Smith
Dies of Pneumonia

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 8.—Andy Smith, coach of the University of California football team, died at six o'clock this morning at the University Hospital of pneumonia.
Smith came east from California to attend the Pennsylvania-Cornell football game on Thursday, and was stricken while at a hotel. He was removed to the University Hospital, Dec. 19, and attended by Robert G. Torrey, another former Pennsylvania football star.
Dr. Torrey and Bill Hollenbach, the latter also a class friend of Smith's, were with him when he died.

250 GOLFERS START PLAY TODAY IN $10,000 CALIFORNIA TOURNEY

Mehlhorn, Smith
And Cooper Are Favored to Win

Qualifying Round to Be Followed by Medal Competition Tomorrow and Sunday.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—The richest golf tournament ever held in the West, the $10,000 open draw more than 250 professional and amateur entrants to the starting tee in the opening qualifying round over the north and south courses of the Los Angeles Country Club.

There will be 26 holes of qualifying play, 18 today and tomorrow, for selection of the 64 finalists for the championship final Sunday. Nine o'clock was the starting hour, the players teeing off in two-omes.

Harry Cooper, professional of Dallas, one of the longest drivers of the Southwest, looms as one of the favorites in the big money Others commanding big galleries were McDonald Smith of Great Neck, N. Y., who won the State open championship on these courses two years ago; William E.
Willis of Bill Mehlhorn of Chicago, winner of the Long Beach Tournament last week, and Al Espinosa, also of Chicago.

Other Stars Entered.
Other notable players in the tournament are Joe Kirkwood, New York; Bobby Cruikshank, Oklahoma City; Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, Mich.; John Black, the Whittier, Kan., veteran; Charles Chung, amateur champion of Harvard; Andy Kay of Toronto; George von Elm, Los Angeles amateur; Hoo Turnesa of New York and Dewey Weber of Grand Rapids, Mich.

In qualifying rounds both north and south courses of the club will be used, each entrant playing 18 holes on the south course and 54 over the north course. The north course is rated as one of the most difficult, and yet one of the most ideal courses in the country. Par is 72 for its 6,647 yards.

The south course is par 70, yardage being 6,036. The north course measures 6,647 and the south course 6,036. The latter figure was measured by the U. S. Golf Assn.
in 1904. The latter figure was measured by the U. S. Golf Assn.
in 1904.

The huge entry list for the tournament prompted officials in charge to use both the southern and northern courses of the club in the qualifying rounds. The tournament is planned to be a professional, who declared that they had been spending their time getting acquainted with the north course and that many of them had not even seen the south 18 holes.

One round of 18 holes of the qualifying play will be played on the south course by each player, three rounds on the north course and the final 54-hole championship flight over the north course.

Steadman Wins;
King Gets Draw
St. Louis Boxers Make Good Showings in Bout at Peoria.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 8.—Morrie
King, St. Louis, and Billy Shaw, Detroit, went ten slashing rounds to a draw in the windup of last night's fight card here. They battered away at one another from going to going, but neither appeared to have the punch with which to decide the battle.

Paul Steadman of St. Louis was the victor over Nick Olivia of Detroit in the eight-round semi-window. This battle was the most decisive fought in the evening, and Peoria ring. The two boys stood toe-to-toe. Steadman floored Olivia twice, but the Detroit boy came back for more each time.

In the third round Steadman landed a solid left which sent the Detroit boy gliding through the ropes. It followed a right which floored Olivia for a nine count. The Italian, however, came back to fight off Steadman's vicious attack.

Bobby Peachey, field champion, shaded K. O. Brown of Bloomington in four rounds. Tony Caponi, Spring Valley, knocked out Harry Roselle, Indianapolis, in the fourth round.

SHERDEL UNDERGOES TONSIL OPERATION AT ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL
Bill Sherdel, leading pitcher in the National League games won and lost during 1925, was convalescent at St. John's Hospital today after a tonsil operation yesterday.
Dr. Robert F. Hyland, the Cardinal club physician, said Sherdel was making comfortably and would be able to leave the hospital in a day or two.

Manager Hornsby, President
Weldon and Vice-President Riskey had been hovering Sherdel all winter with telegrams urging him to report here for the operation.
His report was poor last fall and during the winter and the operation was recommended by Dr. Hyland.
Sherdel, Bredon, Riskey and others were in conference yesterday before the trip to the hospital.
It is likely that Sherdel will sign his contract for 1926 before departing for his home at McSherstown, Pa.

COBB LEARNS
TO USE SPIKES

Chapter XII in Ty's
Life Story

As Told by Himself

THE baseball spike is a dangerous weapon. Though it was never intended as such, its possibilities developed through that never-ending struggle to take advantage of everything the game offered.

For those who may not have had a close view, baseball spikes are divided into two groups, one for the ball of the foot and one for the heel. On these steel plates, triangular in shape, are three blades, nearly an inch in length and curved on the outer edges, which are sharpened like a knife. On the foot there are, therefore, six of these blades. Their purpose is to enable the player to get a grip on the ground to steady him while running or in the bat.

The feet forward slide developed these spikes as weapons to threaten an infielder in touching a runner coming into a base. Training taught the infielders how to make that touch and still not be hurt.

As I have related, I got my lesson the first game I played against New York, when I slid into Kid Li-berfeld head on. He promptly gave me the knee and shoved my face into the dirt. After that I went in and let the base runner take the chance.

It was easy to learn that a timid base runner would often fail to make the touch through a fear of these glittering spikes. The aggressive base runner, naturally will take advantage of this fear.

Confession From Ty.

Let me say right here that I have never deliberately injured a man by going at him viciously, though I have often been accused of it. I that be frank, though, and admit that on one or two occasions I have tried to knock a man over.
And, on each occasion, I had good cause. It so happened that I failed, but the players whom I went after knew that I intended to get them and thereafter they laid off taking advantage of me.

It is easy enough to be considered good natured and magnanimous if a fellow is willing to let the other fellow take advantage of him and get away with it. I am not that kind. From my early boyhood I have fought back with weapons just as strong as those used against me.

For example, Kid Elberfeld did not hesitate to give me the knee and drive my face into the ground
so that all the skin was peeled off.
He did that because I was green and didn't know how to go into a base. Also he was determined to knock me. That was his motive behind all rough plays is a desire to win. It is rarely malicious.

When I had learned the book slide and could go in feet forward
I made up my mind to pay Elberfeld back in his own medicine for being roughed me up. Mind you, I did not complain or holler. I realized that I had paid the penalty for being green.

The first time I had a chance to go into second after that and knew that Elberfeld would cover the bag
I threw myself in the air and went after him just as hard as I could.
I felt myself a big leaguer now.

Squares an Account.
My feet collided with his leg and Elberfeld was knocked four or five feet. He failed to touch. That boy was a sportsman. He got up, rubbed himself, looked at me calmly and went back to his position without saying a word.

"Well, you've learned something," his look implied. "You beat me to it that time and I've got nothing to say."

We had many run-ins after that,
but both of us took the attitude that if the other tried something and got away with it everything was all right and there would be no holler coming. After that Elberfeld knew that he could take no easy advantage of me, and I knew that I could take none of him. We both understood it and neither ever complained. In fact, I think we had more respect for each other. I knew I had every respect for him.

Back in the early days there was much in the papers about my having cut Frank Baker down.
It is true that I bowled him over but as to doing it deliberately no such thought ever entered my head.
He was a big fellow and moved a little slowly when I made my slide.
He simply failed to get out of the way. Remember the base runner has a right to the line to a clear view of the base. If the baseman

Billiken Basket
Team Opposes Marquette Next

Milwaukee Five, With 3-3 Record for Year, Plays
Here Tomorrow.

The St. Louis University basketball team, which is just about at the peak of its development, is scheduled to meet the Marquette University five of Milwaukee tomorrow night at the Armory. It will be the fourth game of the season for the Billikens.

Last week's 40-30 victory over Arkansas brought out a dazzling exhibition of teamwork and individual performance. Arkansas, with a record of eight straight victories, including one over the Col-seum A. C. quintet, was figured to be the forwards, Kapl center,
Stanton and Young, guards.

Has Won Three Games.
Marquette will arrive with a record of three victories and three defeats. According to reports, Marquette is represented by its weakest team in years and is made up of four sophomores and Capt. Bob Demolingo, a senior. The four sophomores are Ed Herte and Floyd Hazner, forwards; Connie Dunn, center, and Johnnie Phaynow, guard. Capt. Demolingo plays the other guard position.

Of the above, Hazner and Dunn are the best, but they lack the experience of college competition.
Marquette started out its season with victories over Milton College, Milwaukee Normal and the University of Minnesota. Since then,
Marquette has lost to Wisconsin,
Iowa and Mercer.

The season's record follows: Marquette 25, Milton 19; Marquette 30,
Milwaukee Normal 14; Marquette
28, Minnesota 17; Marquette 26,
Wisconsin 42; Marquette 16, Iowa
19; Marquette 21, Mercer 23.

man, St. Louis, defeated Nick Olivia, Detroit, (8).
Portland, Ore.—Ted Morgan,

co (7).

Concordia Plays

Seminary Basket Five to Op-

Game Tonight.

Concordia Seminary will meet the Cape Girardeau College basketball team at Holy Cross Hall tonight.

The Teachers bring a team of seasoned players. Two held regular berths on last year's team.
Coach Courieux has been shifting his lineup, trying for the best combination. Capt. Kicks, a forward of three years' experience, and Daugherty, a four-year varsity man at center, will be in the opening lineup.

The downwaters are confident of repeating their victory of last year.
Concordia will start with the same lineup that took the floor against the Baker U. quintet before the Christmas vacation.

City of Minnesota. Since then,
Marquette has lost to Wisconsin,
Iowa and Mercer.

FOUND FRIEND LIVED HIGH

SO HE STOPPED LOW TO HIM

For Merchant Witness in Bankruptcy Action of Head of Embroidery Firm

Louis Bloom and Simon Steiner were fast friends. When Bloom was a little cash in his handsome of the National Embroidery

Co., 905 Washington avenue,

Steiner accompanied him with a loan as Steiner's firm, the North-street, was a money-maker.

But the two fell out about a year ago and the details were told before Steiner yesterday at a hearing before Referee in Bankruptcy

Coles on the voluntary Bankruptcy petition filed by Bloom last October for his embroidery company.

"Whenever Bloom needed money for his business I loaned it to him," Steiner testified. About a year ago my wife and I visited the Bloom home. We saw that they were living high and had a new automobile. I then decided not to loan them any more money because I thought if he could buy a new automobile and live like that he didn't need my assistance. When I refused to loan him money we fell out and I haven't seen him since."

The witness identified several checks made by the Northern Em-broidey Co. for Bloom as payments on the loans. Bloom was not at yesterday's hearing, which was continued until Jan. 20 after

Steiner had testified.

Cannot Sing 'Messiah' Sunday.

Arthur Davis, cathedral organist,

J. M. COX CHIDES DEMOCRATS

Calls for Positive Leadership, Not Timid Souls.

By the Associated Press.

SIDNEY, O., Jan. 8.—Chiding "timid souls" who would put expediency before principle because they are disheartened by Democratic losses, James M. Cox, former Governor of Ohio, in a letter read at a Jackson day celebration here called for positive leadership by men unafraid.

The former Governor and Democratic presidential nominee in 1920 likened the existing political situation to that which prevailed at the birth of the Democratic party and which again appeared with the election of Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson. A revocation of public opinion will result, he predicted, from the administration policy which concerns nothing save the welfare of the dollar.

$200,000,000 MOVIE MERGER IS PLANNED

Move to Unite First-Run Theaters Throughout Country With Public as Stockholders.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Consolidation of the motion picture theaters of the country into one great company is being planned.

The hand of Adolph Zukor appeared above the table for a while last December when the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation divested itself of its 200 first-run theaters throughout the country and formed the Public Theaters Corporation. Then Zukor rose and gave his place to Samuel Katz of Balaban & Katz, which controls 500 first-run motion picture theaters throughout the Middle West.

"Mr. Katz will be president of the Public Theaters Co.," said Zukor in substance. "We wish to avail ourselves of his talent for managing theaters so we may concentrate on the production."

Public as Shareholders.

That put 700 motion picture theaters under one management. Yesterday it was learned the plan is to have the Public Theaters Corporation own the theaters as well as manage them. A stock issue is planned whereby the public will become shareholders in theaters estimated to be worth $200,000,000.

After that, by means of the intricate business relations of motion picture production and distribution, it is expected to draw the first-run motion picture houses of the United States, estimated to number about 2000, into one gigantic motion picture theater holding corporation worth $1,000,000,000.

Formation of the Public Theaters Corporation is understood to have been undertaken upon the general banking principle that it would be sounder to have the theatrical assets of the leading motion picture producers separated from their producing assets.

Attitude of Bankers.

The present step is one which the bankers yesterday regarded with misgiving. Since last June, however, when the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation announced it was free from bank loans, less attention has been paid in motion picture circles to the counsel of the bankers.

Bankers yesterday expressed the belief that a general merger of the theaters now owned or controlled by the leading motion picture producers would not "get by" the Federal Trade Commission.

It would be suspected, first of being a transparent evasion of any order to the motion picture producers to divest themselves of their theaters.

Second, it would be suspected of being a combination to fix not only the price of admissions but also of films.

A MEDAL OF HONOR MAN

That Year of Freedom

By Mildred Barbour

Dane Larabee, successful business man, handsome, prosperous, approaching middle age, devoted to quiet pastimes, his home and his exquisite young wife.

Nan Larabee, who as Nan Faraday, was a promising vocal student, and who, after three years of marriage, has begun to regret the career that she feels she might have had with its adventures and freedom.

Gordon Prescott, a cold, calculating bachelor, supposedly a good friend of the Larabees, secretly in love with Nan, and—

Caroline Prescott, his second cousin, a schemer like himself, who had wanted to marry Larabee herself, and, on losing him to Nan, had apparently become her friend.

—but Larabee refuses her an actual separation, making her the unique alternative proposition of a year of freedom, in which she shall live where and how she pleases and he will do likewise. At the end of the year, he stipulates, they will then decide whether the separation is to be made permanent.

The Wish of the Bad Fairy.

CHAPTER VII.
WHEN a woman generally knows that Nan and Larabee were going to separate for a year, it aroused a storm of comment and criticism in their circle of friends and acquaintances.

Nan was rather dismayed. She believed that it was a matter that lay between her and her husband and she resented the questions of the curious as much as she hated the advice of the interested.

Larabee carried off the affair splendidly. For all who sought to intervene, he had a shrug and a smile; for Nan herself, a word of reassurance.

"You must not mind them, Nan. It's a bit of a unique arrangement, you must admit. Nowadays in marriage, people either agree or they don't and the court generally decides the question for them. Because you and I have undertaken to decide for ourselves, we will probably have to undergo a little publicity. It's worth it, though, isn't it—for your year of freedom?"

To herself she was forced to admit that it was rather a steep price to pay, especially after her encounter with her mother-in-law.

Mrs. Larabee Sr. had gone to bed with a nervous collapse directly after she heard the news. After several days she sent for Nan.

"But I dare not go alone," Nan protested to Larabee. "Your mother terrifies me. She still has the power to give me the impression that her standards are always the right ones and when she sends for me, I feel like a naughty child brought up to answer for a misdeed."

"It will be hard to make mother understand," Larabee told her, "but I will do the best I can. She is very old-fashioned, remember, and has purely conventional ideas in regard to marriage."

They went together to see Mrs. Larabee Sr. She was lying on a couch in her sitting room, still prettily pink and white, with a lace cap befringed in pale blue, framing her white hair. There were flowers on a table beside her, a box of bonbons and a novel. It was obvious that she enjoyed her invalidism, although the eyes she turned on her son and daughter-in-law were deep with reproach. They seemed to say, "Look at what you have done to me, this is all your fault."

Larabee seated himself beside her couch and took both her little white hands in his.

"Well, mother, how goes it? Feeling better today?"

"I'll never feel better," she protested faintly, "while you and Nan keep on with this absurd plan of yours. Sit down, Nan, she turned a cold eye on her daughter-in-law. "I am glad to see you looking so well, I thought you must surely be ill or insane."

Nan bit her lip and remained silent, though she accepted the seat her mother-in-law indicated.

"Now, mother," Larabee protested, "are you sure you are strong enough to want to discuss this?"

"Do you think I am so old as to be unbecomingly?" she demanded with rising spirit. "I'll admit I believe that my mind was becoming weakened and credulous when I heard of this ridiculous thing that you and Nan are contemplating, but now, since you seem determined to go through with it, I want to hear your justification."

"We are not asking for justification," Larabee assured her. "We only want to put into practice a logical formula of reasoning. Nan is bored with her life with me. She feels that I deprived her of her youth, of freedom, of a chance to find success in her own profession. Life with me is stifling to her instincts and desires. She feels that she is sinking into a negative background where she is only Dan Larabee's wife, the chaperone of his household, the hostess at his parties. Remember, mother, that Nan is young. She has charm, personality, talent which she never had a chance to try because I married her when she was a young girl. You have lived all your life in a safe haven, a circumscribed, conventional world where everything has been decided for you and you have followed beaten trails because they were the safe, the conventionalized thing to do. You have never come to the cross roads of choice, the cross roads of destiny. Mother, dear, the saddest thing in life is a cross road where one chooses wrongly and cannot go back and retrieve the lost happiness which the other road might have offered. I am giving Nan a chance to go back and follow the other road. Perhaps it may not bring her the contentment that this one has done. I pray it won't, for my own sake; but I'd be a selfish cad if I did not stand aside and let her find happiness if she can."

Mrs. Larabee spoke with spirit: "You are an absurd idealist. Dane, and you," she flashed a malicious glance at Nan, "are a selfish and unwomanly woman. In my day, girls asked no greater happiness than to have a loving and indulgent husband and a home and children. If you had the babies you should have, you wouldn't want to be running around the country with a lot of bohemians. The art you are always prating about is only an excuse for a wild life. You deserve to come to a bad end, and I hope you do."

With this parting thrust, she dismissed them from her presence, and Nan went out feeling like a criminal sentenced to doom.

Your Time Will Come Later.

CAROLINE PRESCOTT, dropping in for tea with Nan, took an entirely different attitude from Larabee's mother and their friends when Nan announced the plan for a year of freedom from domestic ties.

Nan, not sensing the fact that Caroline's sympathetic understanding was motivated, reacted gratefully to her comments.

"Of course, it seems a pity to have our friends' marriage breaking up," Caroline said as she lit a cigarette after her third cup of tea, "especially when all of us believed that you and Dane were so ideally happy, but after all I can understand your desire for freedom. I wouldn't give up mine for anything in the world. Nothing could make me leave my husband. If I were as young as you and as good looking, I should never hesitate for an instant to find out what life could offer me in the way of thrills."

Nan knitted her brows thoughtfully.

"I am not so sure it's thrills I am looking for. Rather, it's a chance to be something, a personality, to accomplish something like the other girls I know who chose a career instead of marriage. They had no more talent than I, and look what they have done for themselves."

"You are right, my dear," Caroline assured her. "Women like you can marry any time."

"But, Caroline, I am not talking about marriage," Nan protested. "Don't forget that I am not leaving Dane for the sake of another man. I haven't a faint idea and probably never will have. I only want to do the things which my early marriage prevented me from doing. Maybe I'll make good, maybe I won't, but I'll never be happy or content until I have tried. Can you imagine a worse fate to a temperament like mine than to sink down into a comfortable old age without any thrilling memories?"

"Why the feeling in your heart that life passed you by because you wouldn't reach out and grab it? Is there anything more sad than a lost opportunity or more wasteful than a talent that has been allowed to wither untried?"

"Certainly not," Caroline agreed heartily. "You are quite right, my dear, and Gordon agrees with me thoroughly." She smiled inscrutably at the lighted end of her cigarette. "You can count on us for understanding and indorsement. We shall always be your friends, and if you get into difficulties in your newly acquired freedom, you have only to call on us. Promise me that you will."

"But I shan't get into difficulties," Nan flashed resentfully. "I am not a child. I can take care of myself and I know the world much better than lots of you women do who have been sheltered all your lives. I was on my own before, remember."

"But you were only a very young girl, then," Caroline reminded her, "and it takes a pretty rotten sort of man not to appreciate and protect innocence. Now you will be in a rather questionable position—either maid, wife, or widow. Better watch your step, darling."

Caroline went away laughing but the glance she sent back to the drawing room was calculatingly thoughtful. She was wondering how soon her dream would come true and she would be chaperone there. She could have danced for joy at the assurance Nan had given her that rumor was false and the Larabees were actually going to separate.

Her first act on returning home was to ring up her cousin at his club and invite him to dine with her.

"What's up?" he asked. "Has anybody left you high and dry without a dinner invitation?"

"Ungrateful brute!" she said, her high spirit refusing to be downed, "that's the way you take my proffered hospitality!"

"Oh, I'll come," he told her, "but for heaven's sake tell your cook to go slow with the seasoning tonight. I am having another rotten attack of indigestion."

"You will die from it one of these days, old dear," she answered lightly. "Be sure to be here at eight sharp or I will lose my jewel of a cook when you disappear so readily."

He arrived on time looking sulky and a bit resentful.

"I can't understand this sudden preference for my society," he grumbled.

"Listen," she took him by his coat lapels. "Nan and Dane are going to separate. It's supposed to be only for a year, but of course that means forever. Any idiot knows that. I told you it was going to happen, you remember."

For a moment his cold, grey eyes gleamed and he lowered them before her searching gaze.

"Yes—and what about it?" he inquired coolly.

She shook him by his lapels. "Just this: don't make the mistake of rushing to Nan. She is fired with ambition now for this career stuff. She is not ready for me—yet. Your time will come later."

To Be Continued.

The Washing Effect.

If too much bluing has been put into the rinse water, add a little household ammonia. It will take away that too-blue look.

Easier Stitching.

A piece of carpet sewed on the tread of the sewing machine gives a little more comfort to the woman who does a great deal of sewing.

Stop, Look and Smell.

If gasoline is kept in the house, a red tape or some similar danger signal should be tied on the handle to prevent any mistaking it for some less dangerous fluid.

Knacker on the Dresser.

The covered coat hangers keep the shoulders of delicate frocks in shape much better than the uncovered ones. Cover them yourself, first with cotton wadding, then with silk ribbon.

Shoes for the Occasion.

Don't try to wear out your old dancing slippers for housework. Have a pair of sensible oxfords with flat rubber heels. You will have much more energy left when evening comes and few complaints about tired feet.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

SOME were heroes of renown, famed in song and story, men who won the victor's crown and the victor's glory. Long and bitter was their fight, grim the war they fashioned; looking ever toward the light, there was seal impassioned. Long the years their tale has known, taught the young to love them for their splendid deeds that shone like the sun above them. Yet another victory often goes unnoted, struggle which no eye can see, battle never quoted. Fought on many a battle ground laid in secret places of this strife no trace is found save in weary faces. Self, the foe they conquer there; self, the warriors merit. Though no drum be sounded then, though no word be spoken, they should bear, as fighting men, victor's bright token.

Bed Warmers.

Now that real winter is here, the model hostess not only takes off the chill of reception for a guest, but removes it from the guest himself. Not every hostess can afford an antique warming pan, but anyone can dress up the household hot-water bottle. The newest covers for this useful article are of velvet in blue, pink, mauve or old gold.

Why Not Say It With Diamond Hatpins?

HERE'S a pretty way about the hats that is growing and growing, and could grow on into an art instead of just a fetching fashion. I refer to pins. Hatpins. Not old-fashioned, dangerous killers, those long-noosed things that gave us a faint feeling about the ribs and, I'm sure, no girl could handle now with the safety that her mother did.

I mean the pretty things of brilliants that are the sole and flashing ornament to the lovely little page-chapeaus that fit down over pretty eyes today.

The hat is a bit of color, a bit of velvet or suede or felt, a bit of black satin. And that is all—save for that arresting bit of jewelry—a circle—an arrow—a fleur-de-lis.

MEDITATIONS OF A MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

One Way to Torture a Wife

USING for a divorce on the old camping grounds, "Cruelty," an actress claims that her husband told her she was "getting old and ugly"—and then sat up reading, all night, so that she couldn't get her beauty sleep.

If this be true, that man certainly knew how to torture a woman! Cruelty, in its most ingenious and intensive form could go no farther.

A man may break a woman's heart, break up the furniture, break his wedding vows, and smash all the Commandments; but until he shatters a woman's illusions about herself, he has not utterly crushed her.

But the man who wrecks a woman's vanity is almost humane, beside the man who wrecks her BEAUTY SLEEP!

Apparently, the average man can never go to sleep until he is convinced that his wife has reached that stage of nervous tension, where she won't be able to close her eyes for the rest of the night. Then, he can roll over and drop right off into a state of sweet symphonic slumber, that will last until long after the alarm-clock has gone off.

Half of the average woman's life is spent in acting as a curfew—and the other half in impersonating an alarm-clock! Half of her energy is wasted in waiting. "OH, WON'T you come to bed, dear!"—and the other half in shouting, "For heaven's sake, won't you GET UP!"

A man can think of more things that he wants to read, eat, say, or do, after 10 p. m., than in all the rest of the day put together. He may doze off in his arm-chair immediately after dinner, and remain in a state of coma all through the sprightly "home evening."

But, by 10 o'clock, when his wife's lids begin to droop and he hears her winding the clock, he is a perfect little Bright Eye, and as full of playfulness as a kitten.

Many a man who is "too tired to eat a mouthful," at dinner time, develops a fine, healthy appetite around midnight, and either demands a hearty supper or goes out and raids the icebox.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

Mrs. Grouse and Jumper Compare Feet

You'll often find more ways than one to get the very same thing done.

—Old Mother Nature.

MRS. GROUSE seemed very much pleased with the soft, deep snow. She was in the first place it made her a warm blanket under which to sleep.

At night she simply plunged into it and worked her way along the ground under it for a short distance. If Reddy Fox or Old Man Coyote or Yowler the Bob Cat should happen to find the place where she went in they wouldn't know just where she then was, so their chances of catching her by jumping on her would be small. Reddy had just tried it and failed. Then Mrs. Grouse liked to walk about on the snow, for it made it easier for her to reach certain berries hanging on the bushes. You know she didn't sink in.

Jumper the Hare was another who didn't sink in. Peter Rabbit envied Jumper and he envied Mrs. Grouse. They were talking about the snow and what fun it was to be able to get about so easily while so many of their enemies were floundering about, and as Peter listened he grew more and more envious. "I suppose it is all because Mother Nature gave you big feet," said he.

"It isn't just big feet," replied Mrs. Grouse. "I don't think my feet are any bigger than they should be for one of my size to look well. It is what goes with these feet at this time of year. I am rather proud of my slender toes in summer. But look at them now."

Mrs. Grouse held out one foot. Along each side of each toe was growing a sort of fringe of horny points. When she put her foot down these filled in the space between the toes so as to give her snowshoes, as it were. Her toes were quite long and with these horny fringes along each she had what appeared at first glance to be big feet.

"Are your feet like that?" asked Peter of Jumper.

Jumper checked. "Hardly," said he. "I don't want any horny points between my toes. I should think they would be most uncomfortable. No, sir, give me hair do it soon."

"I care," spoke up Mrs. Grouse. "I don't want to be a crust." "I don't want a crust," began Peter, and stopped. "You see just then there was a sudden interruption."

But the man who wrecks a woman's vanity is almost humane, beside the man who wrecks her BEAUTY SLEEP!

Where did men get this stastistic habit of prowling around the place, all night, anyhow?

Apparently, the average man can never go to sleep until he is convinced that his wife has reached that stage of nervous tension, where she won't be able to close her eyes for the rest of the night. Then, he can roll over and drop right off into a state of sweet symphonic slumber, that will last until long after the alarm-clock has gone off.

A man can think of more things that he wants to read, eat, say, or do, after 10 p. m., than in all the rest of the day put together. He may doze off in his arm-chair immediately after dinner, and remain in a state of coma all through the sprightly "home evening."

But, by 10 o'clock, when his wife's lids begin to droop and he hears her winding the clock, he is a perfect little Bright Eye, and as full of playfulness as a kitten.

down—'it's no use!' Is she fancy free, and could a fellow touch? No! It's an arrow piercing and binding two hearts—one a bit from the other. Sometimes her eyes underneath may tell another story of it. What's the broken ring about the lonely heart? Ah, ha! A widow with a spark in her eye above the tear on her cheek. No ring around her heart—and it's all alone. And her eyes are like brown and her lips like barberry berries! The arrow pointing forward to the little heart—'follow the arrow,' of course; 'here is my heart—can you with it?' A true-love knot—what is that? Would that mean 'I'm engaged' or 'I would be true to you.' That would be for a fellow.

HOME MAKING HELPS By WANDA BARTON

AMONG the revivals of old-fashioned decorations is the old spatter work, which young ladies of the last generation were most expert in doing. It was prominent when wax flowers were fashionable and hooked rugs and armchair embroidery occupied nimble fingers.

The work may be used to decorate window shades, lamp shades of unfaded materials and unglazed pottery. Spattering is done with a medium coarse comb and a soft brush. The ink used should be of the flowing and blue-black. It is poured into a saucer, the brush is dipped into it and then drawn over the surface of the article upon which the pattern has been laid. After the spattering has been done, the article should be allowed to stand until the ink is thoroughly dry, then the pattern may be removed and a warm iron used to set the pattern and remove the wrinkles the dampness of the ink may have created.

The patterns used vary. They may be of the stencil kind, natural leaves, ferns or foliage, plumed and lightly with fine pointed pens or thumb tacks. When finished, the pattern comes out the color of the material used, blended with the figures, silhouettes only. It is very effective and unusual when finished. It is safe to experiment on plain brown paper or muslin, before attempting anything elaborate, in order to get the knack of using the brush and comb, also to find just the right quantity of ink to keep in the brush. In time, one gets expert in the shading of the work.

An attractive idea is to decorate bureau scarfs that have been hemstitched and stretched under glass to get them the right length. They may be spattered in a border pattern running all around the edge above the hemstitching or in separate motifs, done with paper patterns of conventionalized flowers or arabesques. Or the material may be of soft unglazed paper and the edges turned under in the semblance of a hem. The glass protects the work and it remains fresh looking for a long time.

Parchment shades spattered attractively, using a mauve ground work, then finished by painting a gold line border top and bottom, make very lovely shades that fit in with nearly any color scheme. Or if the parchment used is white, the borders may be black, which also makes a smart-looking shade. One clever artist did the decoration on a white shade in little patterns of the white figures, silhouettes only, in spattered shadows. She then painted the faces, hair, eyes, lips and cheeks.

"—began Peter, and stopped. You see just then there was a sudden interruption.

DO'S AND DON'TS —For— SUCCESS IN BUSINESS By NELLIE E. GARDNER

"I HAVE no other notion of economy than that it is the parent of liberty and ease," sagely said Dean Swift.

Do you look upon economy in your youth as a hardship? Do you overlook the fact that it is a privilege and a passport? It is a privilege to be able to earn enough in the days of your greatest productivity so that you may enjoy leisure in the days when ease and cessation from activity and struggle will be appreciated.

Practicing economy today is placing the signature on your own passport to travel, some day in the future, with men and women whose dollars are working for them instead of their hands.

All of us have the right to expect something besides hard work in life. But we cannot always have our work and play at the same time. To squander too much of our time or of our earnings on luxuries or recreational activities, before we have reached the stage of financial independence which justifies this, merely postpones the day of our complete freedom.

Nothing grows faster than money if given a chance. Step into any bank and ask for an estimate of what a hundred dollars in a savings bank will amount to 10 years from today! The result may surprise you.

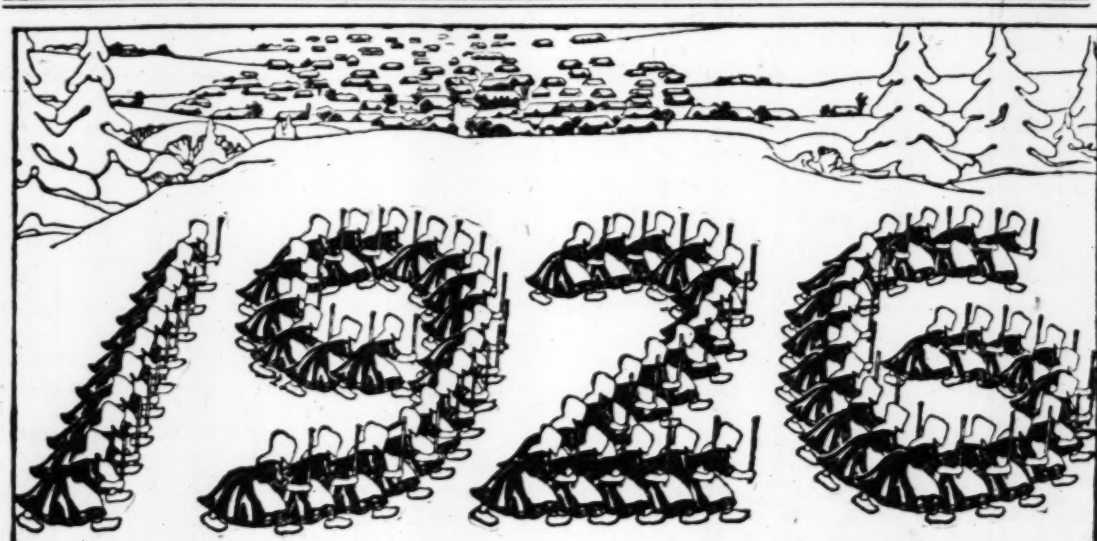

How small a percentage of men and women who work have anything real to show for their efforts! Food, clothes, inconsequential trifles—they constitute the regular exchange for the weekly pay check. How few have the wisdom and the foresight to buy their future independence with the earnings of today.

Economy and thrift are as old as the Bible. Wasteful spending is as old as the story of the Prodigal Son. Not all the business epics written by the lives of the Carnegies, the Rockefellers, and the Schwabs can impress the thrifless young man or woman with the fun that can be made of the game of saving a certain portion of one's income.

It does seem, sometimes, that spenders and savers are born that way, and that precept and example and experience are futile. A spendthrift once is usually a spendthrift forever.

But if you must spend all you get, see that you spend part on good investments!

Old Dutch brings Healthful Cleanliness and Good Cheer Makes cleaning easier all the year

Use the Old Dutch bright brigade every day throughout the year to bring you the comfort and assurance of Healthful Cleanliness in the home.

There is nothing else like Old Dutch for quick, easy, perfect cleaning; a natural detergent of distinctive quality and character. Contains no hard scratchy grit to scratch or mar aluminum or the white enamel of the sink and bathtub. It erases dirt—visible as well as invisible, instead of scratching it off. This is important as scratches are catch-alls for dirt and impurities, and scratched surfaces are harder to keep clean.

Use Old Dutch every day, everywhere—it doesn't harm the hands. The most efficient and economical way to secure Healthful Cleanliness.

THE DATE TREE By ERNEST SEEMAN

January 8, 1642—284 years ago—Galileo Galilei bequeaths to the world the first thermometer. Among the many achievements of this brilliant Italian, perhaps none are in more general use than the humble thermometer. However, the original model would hardly be recognizable today, as it was neither sealed nor graduated. The Duke of Tuscany improved on the original thermometer by sealing it, and 72 years later it was still further perfected by the German, Fahrenheit, whose name it now bears.

England's Cuba. It is not generally known that England once held sway over Cuba, but such is the case. It was on Aug. 13, 1762, that Cuba was surrendered to the British, who gained vast booty from its capture. They took 2,000,000 pounds in special large quantities of goods and munitions and nine ships of the line and four frigates.

In the following year Great Britain exchanged the island with Spain for the Floridas.

How to "Run" for Beauty By LUCREZIA BORI

I KNOW a very pretty woman who attributes her beauty to good health. However, despite her healthy organic condition, she occasionally suffers from a few minor nervous troubles.

As her case is applicable to numbers of women, I will go at more length into it. Like so many women of the present day, she goes to business daily, and in the work she does she allows herself to become rushed and to grow nervous in contending with this rushed condition. She admits herself that most of the rush is due to bad management and she is taking steps to correct it.

Now, if you find that your nerves give you uneasiness occasionally, I advise first of all, a visit to your doctor. No one was ever harmed by an occasional physical examination. On the other hand, you either benefit by the assurance that you are in good physical condition or else you find what is wrong early in the game, and take intelligent means to check it.

In the case of my friend, the main things the doctor advised were the avoiding of stress and strain, and the indulging in at least

SUBSIDIARY OF MELLON FIRM UNDER U. S. INQUIRY

Assistant Attorney-General Informs Senate Committee—Mellon's Concern Owns One-Third Interest

ACTED ON ORDER FROM SARGENT

Declares Charges Made by Commission Did Not Stand When Complainants Were Interviewed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Aluminum Goods Manufacturing Co., one-third owned by the Aluminum Co. of America, has become the subject of a special investigation by the Department of Justice. Assistant Attorney-General Donovan today informed the Senate-Judiciary Committee.

Secretary Mellon is heavily interested in the Aluminum Co. of America, but the Assistant Attorney-General asserted minutes of the latter company failed to bear out charges that it dominated the policies of the Goods Manufacturing Co.

Announcement of the new proceedings was made when the Assistant Attorney-General read a report from Examiner Dunn of the Department of Justice saying that "material obtained from the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing Co. is clearly indicative of the actions of the company, which have been so generally criticized by its competitors, such as price policy, special discounts, false advertising, exclusive dealing, resale price maintenance and causing discontinuance of competing lines."

The Assistant Attorney-General testified after Attorney-General Sargent had concluded his testimony. Attorney-General Sargent told the committee he would test out the right of the Department of Justice to obtain necessary evidence in the department's inquiry into the conduct of the Aluminum Co. of America.

It has been charged that some of the evidence against the company has been locked up in the files of the Federal Trade Commission, which some time ago declared the company guilty of improper trade practices. Yesterday Sargent told the committee he did not recall any effort on the part of his department to get this evidence. He also said he did not recall when he first heard of the Aluminum case, but today he said he had ascertained that his attention first was called to the matter on March 25, 1925.

Today Sargent was asked directly by Senator Walsh (Dem.) of Montana, what "your department has done to get this information" from the Trade Commission. "This is still a present matter," was the reply. "It has just come to my attention."

SSenator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho, then asked if it was the present purpose to demand more information from the commission, and Sargent replied that he would test out the right of the Justice Department to obtain the necessary evidence.
